To prepare for the long term stewardship of the future park, Friends works with the City of Seattle to beautify and program existing waterfront public spaces. Friends launched "Hot Spot" in 2015 as a pilot project to gather data and experiment with diverse programming and partnerships to inform the future park operations and activation strategies. Working with over 40 community partners, Friends leads cultural and recreational programs on summer weekends July- September with free events attended on average by 300 people. The first piece of the park, Pier 62, will open in 2019 and Friends is fundraising to support capital costs of the rebuild.

Friends created and operates Waterfront Space, a public program and exhibit space. Waterfront Space features educational exhibits telling the story of the
