High Performing Health Centers - a collaboration between the Washington Dental Service Foundation and Delta Dental of Colorado Foundation. The foundations are collaborating to develop a dashboard of key measures needed to support a high quality dental program, and then identify technical assistance support to help community health centers reach certain benchmarks. Programs that prevent oral disease, increase education and oral health awareness, increase access to preventative care, systems collaboration and other related expenses incurred to execute and monitor grants. Fluoridation Initiative- Community water fluoridation (CWF) is essential to good oral health. While toothpaste and mouth rinses contain fluoride, it's often not quite enough to prevent tooth decay. CWF provides an extra level of protection for everyone. It is especially critical for children who lack regular access to preventive dental care. In these kids, it's the last line of defense against tooth decay. CWF is fundamental to our mission of eradicating childhood tooth decay. Without it, the oral health of Coloradans would worsen. CWF is a national issue but building support for it must happen at the local level. Dentists and physicians living in many Colorado communities support CWF, as well as the American Dental Association, American Medical Association and the American Academy of Pediatrics. The foundation is currently developing an initiative and supports CWF. It will educate the public about its many benefits as one of the most trusted public health measures.
