is mining, hydraulic fracking, and abandoned mines. This along with a water survey which is to help identify communities that will need drinking water filters for homes from uranium, coal and other toxins in local drinking waters on the greater Navajo Nation. Also over the last year we were able to start helping young families with small home repairs and weatherization as well. We have been teaching our younger generation about traditional perspectives and concepts on a large scale. It has been a very humbling experience for us, and very empowering for the younger generations, especially understanding and doing the actual re-connecting with nature through prayers and offerings to different elements. In the fall and winter of 2016, we have helped support the resistance at Standing Rock Sioux Reservation with spiritual ceremonials. We assisted 30 youth supporters to go to Standing Rock from our region, many are now still going back for charges filed against them by the corrupt state. Also, we were able to send firewood, supplies, and legal support.

...reports stories that cannot be published inside Israel and often not known or reported by foreign media. Tikun Olam's reporting led to Richard Silverstein becoming a regular contributor to Middle East Eye, a UK publication specializing in reports on Middle East affairs. Tikun Olam broke many stories in the past year, including: Israel's Shin Bet secretly arrested United Nations employees and accused them of using their NGO status to aid Hamas. Such arrests are often couched as national security matters, when they're actually meant to intimidate and harm humanitarian efforts in Gaza; Accusations of sexual abuse by rabbis, judges, professors, and other officials are often gagged by the Israeli court system; Israel's military censor reported in a media conference that she "looks forward to meeting me some day." The implication was that she would like to see Richard either in an Israeli interrogation room or jail cell; Profile of Israel's military censor and the censorship process, including the news that a military censor sits in the newsroom of every Israeli TV station and censors every military-intelligence story reported; Israeli collaboration with the Syrian Islamist group, al-Nusra, an affiliate of al Qaeda, which includes maintaining camps for families of Islamist fighters, military aid and intelligence sharing, and IDF commandos making regular forays into Syrian territory. Israel's alliance with Islamists is rarely, if ever reported by the media and never acknowledged by Israel officially; IDF massacres of Egyptian troops during both the 1956 and 1967 wars. Many of these stories were censored inside Israel. This reporting opened Israel to these important issues concerning war crimes committed by Israeli forces; Israeli medical malpractice, including the murder of Yemenite children in the 1950s as a result of racist medical experimentation. The National Institutes of Health funded some of the experiments with a $1-million grant. This had never been reported outside Israel.
