Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Part X, Line 2	The Corporation has been recognized by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) as a not-for-profit corporation as described in Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code (the Code) and is exempt from federal income taxes on related income pursuant to Section 501(a) of the Code. The guidance on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under this guidance, the Corporation may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. Examples of tax positions include the tax-exempt status of the Corporation and various positions related to the unrelated business income taxes related to its real estate rental, and which is included in other income in the statements of activities. There were no unrecognized tax benefits identified or recorded as liabilities during the periods covered by these financial statements. The Corporation could be subject to routine audits by the IRS, however, there are currently no such audits in process.

Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 15a	Each year the board evaluates the ceo by looking at the outcomes of the annual targets established for the position. The CEO also submits a self-evaluation and each board member completes an assessment of the CEO. The chairman of the board conducts private interviews with key employees of the agency to determine how the ceo and the agency are doing. The board will hold an executive session (where no staff is present) to review the above material with salary surveys, information from 990's of comparable organizations and information from trade groups in considering the wage offered to the CEO.
