Part I, Line 2	In pursuit of its tax-exempt mission of ameliorating the condition of the poor and needy, covenant house Alaska may make specific grants of assistance to individuals in the form of food, supplies, and/or clothing. As such, there is no requirement to monitor the use of these non-cash items. covenant house Alaska's rights of passage and pass house, maternity group home transitional living programs provide a cash housing grant upon successful completion of 18 month transitional living program. Each youth completes an application and is approved based on the youth achieving milestones during their participation in the program. All youth are eligible to receive the grant if they complete their individual milestones, meet their savings plan goal, and pay rent on time throughout their stay in the program. As the youth pay into the grant fund through paying program rent, they are able to submit an application for up to $1500.00 to use of whatever the youth identifies as a need (deposit for apartment, computer, car, school etc.) CHA monitors the youth's progress once they leave the program as part of the aftercare program, but we do not require the youth to submit verification of how they used the funds. Their case manager submits a recommendation and does check in with the youth, but we do not have a formal process for verifying use of funds.
