FORM 990, PART III, LINE 4D	Disability programs are diverse to meet the many interests and abilities of individuals with disabilities who want to participate in a training program. Staff work with individuals to determine interests, skills, abilities, and any barriers to successful employment. Based on the individual's desire for employment, staff work with each to define an employment plan that details the activities, goals, and desired outcomes from the services provided by Goodwill. Whether the individual is looking for part-time or full-time work, or whether he or she is ready for independent employment or needs supported employment options, our staff work with the individual and their support networks to determine the necessary time to training schedule that meets the person's needs. The Work Activity Program provides individuals more time for job experience activities and training and support from on-the-job coaches once they are employed. These coaches work one-on-one with the individual and slowly decrease their supports as the individual becomes more independent and capable of successfully handling all of the job duties without assistance or monitoring. The Work Activity Program provides social activities to enhance quality of life for those persons with significant disabilities and to continually provide opportunities for community integration for individuals beyond traditional working age. The Horizons program was created as Goodwill realized a community need to serve young adults with Autism Spectrum Disorder. This job training program allows individuals to identify their strengths, learn new skills, and prepare to find a productive niche in the workforce in their communities. Goodwill carves out occupational pathways, empowers individuals, and gives young adults and their families the opportunity to enjoy full and productive lives.
