One key strategy for increasing access to healthy foods, such as fruits and vegetables, is to enc ourage our local food retailers and institutions to stock and promote these items Activit ies selected below aim to increase the prevalence of healthy foods throughout our daily li ves, so that the healthy choice is the easy choice Strategy Description There is strong evidence that a strategy focused on healthy food retail and healthy food procurement metho ds is an effective approach to improve healthy weight and increased consumption of nutriti onal foods Retail environments and institutional meal offerings, including schools, workp laces, neighborhood convenience stores, and coffee shops, can each play a significant role in consumer food choices, for better or worse This is especially true for residents of n eighborhoods that lack access to full service grocery stores, who otherwise may find it ea sier to find junk food than fruits and vegetables Examples of proven activities related t o this strategy include increasing retail offerings to include nutritious options, intenti onal product placement and marketing of these foods, while de-emphasizing unhealthy produc ts such as tobacco, alcohol, sugary drinks and other junk foods Sources ChangeLab Soluti ons, US Surgeon General, CDC Winnable Battles, Procurement - City Health Overview Strateg y 2 - Creating and Improving Access to Places, Parks, and Playgrounds for Physical Activit y and Creating and Maintaining Safe Neighborhoods Current Situation Yellowstone County an d Billings have several beautiful parks and places for recreation However, the ability to access these destinations without a car, and safety concerns related to some of these des tinations are barriers to their enjoyment One key strategy for promoting use of existing facilities, including parks an

Schedule H, Part V, Line 11	d bikeways, is to normalize their use. Activities selected below promote the normalization of active transportation and parks to increase physical activity. The more this infrastructure is utilized, the safer and popular it becomes. Strategy Description There is strong evidence that a strategy focused on creating and improving access to places for physical activity, maintaining safe neighborhoods, and improving access to parks and playgrounds is an effective approach to improve healthy weight and physical activity. Examples of proven activities related to this strategy include increased access to facilities such as walking trails and exercise spaces, joint and shared use agreements, Complete Streets policies, Complete Parks, safe routes to school and parks, and zoning that promotes accessibility and activity. Overview Strategy 3 - Provide Space for Organized Activities that Encourage Social Participation and Inclusion Current Situation Overweight and obese adults are more likely to report a number of adverse health conditions, including fair/poor overall health and fair/poor mental health. Yellowstone County residents are increasingly active, however, disparities persist among lower-income residents and seniors. Key informants noted a lack of supportive built environment that does not always support healthy living as a significant concern. Local senior service and mental health representatives believe identification and development of community gathering places would be beneficial to their respective clients as social isolation and inactivity are often interwoven. A key strategy to promote activity and social engagement is to enhance or create spaces that are welcoming and accessible to all, with organized activities and opportunities for social engagement. Strategy Description The evidence states this is an effective strategy for improved weight and increased physical activity by creating safe, attractive opportunities for all residents to be active and engaged. Research shows that perceptions of poor safety, unwelcoming spaces, and inaccessibility are all barriers to activity and that social engagement is associated with better health outcomes.
