Part III, line 4a (continued)

When we first began in 1997, we did not know that eventually we would become a 501(c)3 organization, that we would apply for and receive accreditation from the State of Indiana, or that we would one day be named Jewel of the Community by the Chamber of Commerce. What we did know was that there were kids who were struggling to find their path to success. They were slipping through the cracks of our judicial system, our education system, and our child welfare system. These were kids that were survivors and they just needed to be given the tools and the skills necessary for success. In that light, it's easy to see that our program has remained unchanged today. Today, we serve kids who might otherwise slip through cracks. We know that these kids are the experts to their own worlds and their own cultures. We come alongside them and learn together. We take time to learn about who they are and where they want to go in their lives. And then we provide the opportunity for them to learn the skills and gain the tools that they need to succeed in their plan.

TROY offers an alternative educational setting to students in grades 6-12. Staff offer a safe, structured, and supportive environment for students. A place where they can check in and interact with caring responsible adult role models. Case management and social supports are in place in addition to life skills education, community service opportunities, and enrichment activities. Weekly meetings with parents provide case managers an opportunity to engage with parents, offer support, and facilitate teamwork and cooperation in approaching the education and success of their child.
