Form 990 (2016)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

The CS Tennessee project is indirectly funded by the State of Tennessee Department of Children's Services and is part of a large system reform effort to implement linked evidence-based interventions that were developed and tested over the past two decades This Project provides training and support to implement three preventive evidence based practices (Keeping Foster and Kin parent supported and trained, parenting through change and youth skills coaching) simultaneously Using these interventions, the CS TN will change the routine practice of child welfare caseworkers such that they will implement evidence-based interventions with the children and families they serve The project includes the KEEP program, and adds the R3 Program (reinforcing effort, reinforcing roles and relationships and reinforcing a small step that can be taken in the near term to contribute to a better outcome), theoretically based principles from evidence-based parenting interventions

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

FAIR was designed to address the needs of parents referred to child welfare services for neglect and substance use, including their co-occurring parenting and substance use needs. FAIR is currently being evaluated as part of an efficacy trial funded by the administration on children, youth, and families. Fair is an intensive community-based treatment model that integrates components of two evidenced-based behavioral interventions: 1) Parent Management Training, developed at the Oregon Social Learning Center (OSLC) to increase parenting skills, teach and support positive family interactions, and address mental health problems, and 2) reinforcement-based therapy, a community reinforcement approach of contingency management to address adult substance use. Behavioral principles from these evidence-based interventions are integrated to address parenting, parental substance use, and any ancillary needs presented by the family (e.g., Mental Health, Housing, Employment). Ongoing engagement efforts are utilized throughout the 8-month treatment. The community-based, outpatient, intensive behavioral treatment involves several major components: 1) teaching parenting skills, 2) delivering substance abuse treatment, 3) Resource building and provision of ancillary supports including housing, employment, support with court and child welfare attendance, 4) Use of incentives. To implement and integrate these components into one model, the fair team includes counselors, skills coaches, a resource builder, and a clinical supervisor.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

KITS is a preventive intervention designed to increase critical school readiness skills in children transitioning into kindergarten who are at risk for school failure. KITS ELA is a contract with United Way of Lane County's Early Learning Kindergarten Readiness Partnership and Innovation Grant, Funded by the Oregon Department of Education's early learning division and early learning council. The KITS program has been tested with children in Foster Care and with children with co-occurring developmental disabilities and behavior problems. Children's early literacy, social and self-regulatory skills are developed through participation in a therapeutic playgroup. Children are taught critical school readiness skills and given multiple opportunities to practice those skills in a classroom environment. Parents also attend workshops where they learn strategies to support their child's skill development and a smooth transition to kindergarten. Using the social innovation fund (SIF) Dr. Katherine Pears and the KITS team at OSLC Developments are providing expertise and disseminating information about KITS to schools in lane county.
