Form 990 (2017)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Training and OrganizingWe offered training to local organizers through webinars, daylong workshops and weeklong intensives. Our trainings were designed to be interactive learning experiences. We begin with a discussion of best practices in online organizing. We review examples of successful digital campaigns and explain to participants how to plan press events. We stress the importance of hinging campaigns on storytelling, and give participants practice in crafting narratives that build support for Black communities. We model interdependent leadership structures by distributing roles and responsibilities and making action plans for participants. We are mindful of meeting organizers where they are, and work to support and coach them on how to become more effective leaders and build people power to win change that adds real value to peoples lives.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Civic EngagementIn 2017, our distributive organizing platform, OrganizeFor.org, was employed as a tactic to grow membership and spark greater participation by enabling local partners to turn their members into campaign leaders, and by equipping Color Of Change members to recruit and mobilize their networks. The impact included driving a neglected issue into the public discourse and keeping it there or forcing key players to meet with organizers and answer questions they would otherwise ignore. The platform, also includes training resources that we bolster with workshops to groom a new generation of leaders in our communities.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

Criminal Justice Over the last year, Color Of Change has led partners across the country organizers, lawyers, policy experts, and communicators to continue to expand our national prosecutor accountability community. We continued to build and expand our national database of 2400 District Attorneys across the country. The database has detailed information on election cycles and how they apply their influence upon the lives of people within their district. We added new jurisdictions with help from our partners and get the database ready to launch publicly in 2018. Additionally, we continue to build a community of advocates working collectively who helped to popularize the important role of DA seats, including important accountability work on DAs in Houston, Chicago and Orlando.
