Information For Patients and Families From Medical Experts of the American Association for Pediatric Ophthalmology & Strabismus (AAPOS) We promise to empower parents with trustworthy information about eye conditions, early detection/prevention, protection from injuries, and the importance of getting quality care from a pediatric ophthalmologist. CEF runs campaigns throughout the year that promote 4 types of content: 1) awareness about vision screening in children to detect silent disease early in life when treatment outcomes are best, mobilizing parents to spread the word and ask their pediatrician about vision screening, 2) information about common questions parents ask, always leading parents/patients to AAPOS.org condition info and FAQs or to interviews with AAPOS member experts, 3) parent-to-parent stories about children with serious eye conditions - to help parents connect and find support from others on the journey, 4) lastly, we promote fundraising on our blog, so patients and parents with an interest in giving can find us and know ways they can engage and give to CEF. CEF maintains a weekly blog in order to feature and promote these types of content so parents can find it on the crowded web of Dr. Google. The blog is promoted via our $10,000 per month Google grant and occasionally through paid Facebook ads. CEF staff write copy, conduct research for content, interview featured guest authors and contributors, manage production of design needs and educational content, analyze SEO and engagement metrics, manage social media interactions with public fundraisers to encourage and thank them, we also manage website host, domain, security, privacy, content management, and maintenance of website+social media sites to ensure quality, professionalism, and positive brand presence.
