Part IV Supplemental Information. Provide the information required in Part I, line 2; Part III, column (b); and any other additional information.

Each year, SCEE solicits proposals from, and accepts, from its participating colleges and universities. Each competing proposal is submitted by a faculty member with less than five years of university faculty experience; the proposed scholarly research limited to a fixed dollar amount with the participating college/university budgeting cost-sharing of at least 100% of the grant amount (to increase the research output).

Each proposal is first evaluated by the participating college/university and then by a team of SCEE members/directors. Winning proposals are then funded by SCEE initially at 85% with the final 20% paid upon completion of the research and a completed final report submission. Costs are itemized by the participating college/university, via its sponsored research office, and billed to SCEE for the final 20% payment on grants.
