Form 990 (2017)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Sponsored the 32nd annual Clinical Cytometry Meeting and Educational Course in Phoenix, AZ from 6-10 October Meeting brought together numerous national and international experts in the field of clinical cytometry There were more than 400 professionals in attendance from over 20 countries The annual meeting is designed to help participants increase their knowledge of current tools and technologies available for patient sample analysis, better understand the accepted methodologies and benchmarks for patient sample analysis and diagnosis, and to increase their competence in using analytical software applications

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Publication of bi-monthly journal for distribution to members Journal provides a forum for information and research related to single cell research

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

Coordinated and managed efforts related to a three year project funded by a restricted contribution of $700,000. The Bi-Society Project is a multi-faceted collaboration endeavoring to create educational resources for the international clinical cytometry community, to host practical clinical cytometry courses in both developed and developing countries, to create an international network of clinical cytometry organizations and to facilitate training of young professionals via the Visitor Training Program. The project specifically involves developing on-line advanced educational resources, a hands-on lab course (wet lab), an international visitor training program, and an on-line network resource to facilitate the global use of clinical cytometry to provide information for patient care.
