EIN: 34-0714482
Name: Benjamin Rose Institute on Aging

Form 990 (2017)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

The purpose of the Eldercare Services Institute (ESI) is to advance support for older adults and caregivers by providing a full range of services in the home and in the community. A staff of licensed social workers, counselors, registered nurses and paraprofessionals is trained to help older adults with aging-related changes in their bodies, minds and environment. When necessary, therapists for specific disabilities and other professionals are integrated into the team. By providing multiple services to individuals, ESI is uniquely situated to make coordination of care much more effective. Services offered by Benjamin Rose for older adults include: An adult day program, which provides social and therapeutic activities for older adults and respite for caregivers, Home care, which includes Medicare-certified skilled nursing care, personal care, homemaking and private-duty care, Mental health services, which include case management and counseling, A partial hospitalization program, which provides therapeutic group treatment for older adults with mental illness, Social work services, which include counseling, case management and consultation, and the Senior Companion Program, which provides companionship to isolated seniors.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

The Rose Centers for Aging Well exists to promote successful aging for Northeast Ohio's adults by offering opportunities, programs and services that foster choice and independence. Seven Rose Centers locations throughout Cleveland, East Cleveland and Oakwood Village provide educational programs, wellness opportunities and hot lunches for older adults. In addition, a home-delivered meal program provides access to nutritionally balanced meals for homebound seniors.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

The Center for Research and Education, formerly known as the Margaret Blenkner Research Center and established in 1961, conducts applied aging research using various methodologies, collects data directly from consumers and professionals to understand their perspective, uses research to develop and test evidence-based programs, develops and tests data collection tools, and conducts consumer satisfaction surveys. Research is used to enhance the lives of older adults, their families and service providers who care for them and to shape health and social service programs and policies at the local, state and federal levels. Research staff are uniquely qualified to collaborate with service providers in translating research findings into evidence-based programs. Research findings are published widely in professional journals and presented to local, national and international audiences. Education and training manuals for older adults, families and services providers are also developed. High quality education and training to promote the professional and paraprofessional growth, development and skills of those who work in the field of aging and health services is provided through the Centers education component.
