AmeriCorps members help foster collaboration and shared outcomes. Labor volunteers and community members come together to design, construct and install mobility ramps for low-income, disabled residents in Saginaw County through Project Independence. Literally freeing residents from their homes, this program gives residents more than just a free ramp. In many cases it also gives them back their independence. Helping students read at grade level or higher, the Lexia literacy program is facilitated through United Way and hosted at several locations throughout the community. Children, ages birth to 5, receive age-appropriate books free through the Imagination Library program. The program promotes access to key literacy skills and supports a readiness for learning.
