Project WILD is an environmental education resource program that helps participants develop an awareness, appreciation and understanding of wildlife. At these lively and engaging professional workshops, participants are introduced to Project WILD materials, activities, and strategies. Through hands-on practice, educators gain the experience and confidence needed to work with their students and to integrate Project WILD into their teaching. Project WILD workshops vary according to local needs and resources. However, workshops typically include an overview of the program, participation in Project WILD activities, information about the wildlife in your state, and curriculum or program plans for using Project WILD with students. Correlations of Project WILD activities to your state's content standards are generally available upon request.

(Code) (Expenses $ 2,445 including grants of $) (Revenue $)

KAEE has been working to strengthen our curriculum program ties to the Kentucky Academic Standards for Science to advance environmental literacy and support the goals set forth in the Kentucky Environmental Literacy Plan.
