Form 990 (2017)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

In 2017, the LWP Workforce Development Area of Focus created the first Internship Playbook, a guiding document for local companies looking to establish or enhance their business's internship program. Anchorage Cares Outreach Launched in the fall of 2016 by the LWP Community Safety Area of Focus, the "Anchorage Cares" initiative aims to reduce panhandling by discouraging Anchorage residents from giving money to panhandlers and instead urge them to give directly to local homeless service agencies through the website, www.anchoragecares.org. The Live Work Play Housing Area of Focus successfully advocated for the initiation of a feasibility study for a Storm Water Utility (SWU). A SWU is a unified entity formed to manage storm drainage for the entire city, connecting the existing patchwork system of drainage, which creates significant flooding and environmental issues in streams and lakes and presents major infrastructure obstacles for housing developers. The Housing Area of Focus also helped gain the Anchorage Planning and Zoning Commission approval for an ordinance that would make it easier for homeowners to build Accessory Dwelling Units, also known as "mother-in-law apartments." The Creative Placemaking continues working to develop a private local arts council in Anchorage. Community Safety Working to increase safety on Anchorage streets, sidewalks and trails, the LWP Community Safety Area of Focus continuing outreach and public engagement through the Anchorage Cares anti-panhandling campaign, and fundraised for the installation of emergency locators throughout local trail systems. In 2017, this area of focus also joined forces with the Trails Area of Focus to provide Green Dot bystander intervention training for Trail Watch volunteers and trail enthusiasts. Trails initiative The Trails Initiative of Live Work Play raised $200,000 in sponsorships towards the new Trails Wayfinding project, which includes building and installing maps and signs along the Anchorage trail system to help residents and visitors get around safely. Mile markers were installed along the Chester Creek trail in summer 2017, and the remainder of the signs will be installed on the Chester Creek and Coastal Trails in 2018. The Workforce Development Area of Focus hosted three Jobs Skills Boot Camps. Led by local business leaders, these half-day sessions are intended to provide soft skills and professionalism training to job seekers in low-income/high unemployment areas across Anchorage. The Workforce Development Area of Focus also developed two first-of-their kind publications designed to benefit local employers. The Millennial Workforce Survey Report -- based off feedback from more than 1,100 young Alaskans -- will help local employers attract and retain the strongest workforce possible, while the Internship Playbook is designed to help Anchorage companies establish or enhance their internship programs.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

In 2017 AEDC continued commissioned work on Anchorage Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy -- a strategy for the Municipality of Anchorage to diversify and grow its economy while increasing jobs and attracting and retaining workforce. Staff incorporated targeted feedback from steering committee members and other stakeholders and designed and compiled the preliminary report in anticipation of a second public comment period in January 2018. Following this second public comment period, the draft will be revised and updated then sent to the Mayors office and the Anchorage Assembly for approval. AEDC also completed a case study of the entrepreneurial resources available for minorities, immigrants and refugees in the Municipality of Anchorage, including a set of recommendations to address barriers going forward. After exploring possibilities for a pop-up retail program similar to that of REVOLVE Detroit, AEDC concluded Anchorage currently lacks the foundational infrastructure, specifically technical assistance and microlending, to enact such a program. Ongoing projects in Business Attraction E-news distribution tailored to the needs of commercial site selectors, Business Confidence Index Survey, an annual survey tracking the local business communitys impression of the Anchorage economy, and Cost of Living Index, data collection for the Cost of Living Index that tracks the price of goods to provide a comparison of key consumer costs in cities across the nation.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

In 2017, AEDC staff worked to attract new investment to Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport and adjacent areas through targeted outreach and site marketing, offering networking and research assistance services and tailored investment proposals to both international companies and local entrepreneurs. After six major Anchorage companies formally expressed interest in discussing commercial development and financing options in and around the Ted Stevens Anchorage International Airport, AEDC published a press release that generated coverage by at least three national publications: American Shipper, Air Cargo News and 247CustomsBroker. A major national airport property developer contacted AEDC as a direct result, and discussions with this developer are ongoing. Also in 2017, AEDC delivered detailed investment proposals to more than 18 companies in various logistics and electronics sectors. AEDC also met with the Municipality of Anchorage's Office of Economic & Community Development to discuss the possibility of establishing a local site certification program -- a process by which a landowner and community conduct due diligence on specific land parcels to certify they are "development ready". The Municipality is reviewing the requirements of site certification and its existing capacity to oversee such a program.

Form 990, Schedule D, Part X, Line 2	The Corporation has been recognized by the Internal Revenue Services as a not-for-profit corporation as described in Section 501(c)(6) of the Internal Revenue Code ("the Code") and is exempt from federal and state income taxes. Income determined to be unrelated to the Corporation's exempt purpose would be taxable, unless otherwise excluded under the Code. The Corporation has not identified any unrecognized tax benefits during the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, nor does it expect there will be a material change in the 12 months following the year ended December 31, 2017.
