Form 990 (2017)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

WGBH Boston has undertaken a wide range of activities that have led to its steady growth through the years as one of America's preeminent public media institutions. From its roots as a local public radio and TV station, WGBH continues to grow in service to its community and the nation and has become PBS's single largest producer of content for TV and the Web. It has a vibrant and expanding local radio newsroom and produces programs heard nationally on public radio. WGBH's storytelling educates, inspires, entertains and connects people with ideas and with one another, creating a bridge across cultures to the world around us. For 65 years, that mission has remained constant, from local productions like Basic Black and High School Quiz Show to national series like Masterpiece and Antiques Roadshow. In today's digital age, we share our stories in every format, on our digital mural overlooking the Mass Pike, through apps and podcasts, and in person at our studios in Brighton, in Dorchester, and at the Boston Public Library. Twenty-four hours a day, 365 days a year, we are engaging with our community. And in our children's area we worked with the Boston Public Schools and multiple other partners to support educational efforts with new immigrant families. Our longstanding science series NOVA reaches one in every six Americans, and is the most-used science resource in America's high schools. WGBH is partnering with NASA on Bringing the Universe to America's Classrooms, a five-year project that gives us access to the extraordinary materials from NASA space missions. Over 30,000 students are using this K-12 educational collection. Learning is fundamental in a young child's world, critical to success in school, and in life. For parents and caregivers without adequate resources, supporting their children's learning can be a challenge. WGBH has long been a trusted partner to educators, parents and children, creating high quality educational programs and services that give kids a chance for success. WGBH makes educational resources available directly to schools and families through PBS LearningMedia, the free, online digital media service co-founded by WGBH for Massachusetts educators. It's now being used by more than half of the Commonwealth's educators and is helping 1 million unique users each month. PBS Learning Media is a national online platform of more than 100,000 educational resources for teachers, students and parents, aligned with the curriculum in every state. WGBH is a pioneer in media access services for 35 million Americans with hearing or vision loss.

Return Reference	Explanation
Grantmaker's Description of How Grants are Used	Pre-Award Often, a federal agency funding a project (or other funder), wants to know at the beginning of the project about the planned use of subrecipients. It is crucial that expenditures for subrecipients are classified correctly in budgets and project plans and are approved by the funder before work begins, and that the risk of the subrecipient's noncompliance with federal rules and grant conditions be evaluated. All potential subrecipients must also be verified against the Governments Excluded Parties List (EPL) (www.sam.gov, see also http://exclusions.oig.hhs.gov/Default.aspx). Procurement staff is to compare the names of each subrecipient against the EPL and print out any results of the search. Evidence of the search of the EPL must be maintained in the project files. If the subrecipient shows a record of suspension or debarment in the EPL, Project Staff must not proceed with that subrecipient and must alert the Compliance department. WGBH is prohibited from using any supplier/service provider on the EPL, and any work then in progress with a subrecipient on the EPL must be terminated immediately. Post-Contract Monitoring Once the contract has been signed and work has commenced, WGBH and the project team are responsible for monitoring the performance of the subrecipient. Subrecipient monitoring occurs in two forms: Performance Monitoring. This involves the project team ensuring that the subrecipient is meeting the performance requirements of the contract and award, including timeliness, scope and results. This monitoring is generally performed by the project team and can be accomplished through meetings, conversations or other methods. Site visits are another monitoring procedure to evaluate the subrecipients compliance with the terms of the project/award and the appropriateness of the subrecipients administration of the project. All performance monitoring activities should be documented in the project files. If issues are identified, the related follow-up or corrective action taken should also be documented in the project file. Compliance Monitoring WGBH is also responsible for monitoring the subrecipients compliance with applicable laws and regulations. This can be accomplished in multiple ways. Annually, WGBH will send a questionnaire to all known subrecipients requesting a copy of their most recent Single Audit report and other information. Responses will be sent back to WGBH's Compliance department, which will review the results and follow up on any findings identified. All responses will be verified against the U.S. Federal Audit Clearinghouse website. If issues are identified that impact a particular project, that project team will be notified. Compliance department will then work with the subrecipient and the project to resolve the issues noted. A final determination on the issue (including references, if applicable) will be provided to the subrecipient within six months of issue identification and any corrective action required of the subrecipients must be completed as soon as possible.
