Facts And Circumstances Test

990 Schedule A, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule A, Part II, Line 17a TEN PERCENT FACTS AND CIRCUMSTANCES TEST 2015 EXPLANATION	Conner Prairie Museum ("CPM") was formed as an Indiana nonprofit corporation on September 1, 2005. CPM, an affiliate of the Smithsonian Museum, was organized to own, operate, and manage the Conner Prairie Museum, which provides educational programs in Fishers, Indiana. In 2005, CPM submitted Form 1023, Application for Recognition of Exemption ("CPM's 1023"), and based on CPM's 1023, the Internal Revenue Service ("Service") issued a determination letter recognizing CPM as an organization described in Code Section 501(c)(3) and as a public charity by virtue of Code Sections 509(a)(1) and 170(b)(1)(A)(vi) ("CPM's Determination Letter"). CPM has been organized and operating since 2005. CPM's organizational purposes and operations have not changed in any material respect since CPM's 1023 was submitted and it received its determination letter. As detailed more fully below, during this time, CPM has provided countless educational activities and opportunities to the residents of Central Indiana and beyond, providing hands-on experiences for both children and adults alike. To ensure these opportunities are able to continue in perpetuity, CPM has been dedicated to obtaining public support for these operations. Despite these efforts, CPM's public support over the past five years did not exceed one-third (1/3) of its financial support. However, the facts and circumstances clearly illustrate that CPM should continue to be classified as a publicly supported organization. Treas. Reg. Sec. 1.170A-9T(f)(3) provides that "even if an organization fails to meet the 33% public support test, it is publicly supported if it normally receives a substantial part of its support from governmental units, from contributions made directly or indirectly by the general public, or from a combination of these sources, and meets the other requirements of this paragraph (f)(3)." There are several factors that are evaluated to determine whether an entity satisfies the 10% facts and circumstances test. The services and educational opportunities that CPM provides to all who visit Conner Prairie Museum are truly remarkable. As a result, CPM enjoys broad public support from those who utilize the educational opportunities that are provided by CPM as well as from donors that include individuals, corporations, foundations, municipalities, and government entities. The following details clearly illustrate that CPM qualifies as a publicly supported organization under Treas. Reg. Sec. 1.170A-9T(f)(3). During the initial five-year period after receiving the CPM Determination Letter, CPM satisfied and continues to satisfy the required 10% public support test. CPM enjoys wide and significant support from individuals, corporations, foundations, municipalities, and government entities. CPM has in excess of 8,000 charitable contributors, varying in size, amount, and type of contribution. This public support is further enhanced by the revenue generated from the admission to the museum, including from stu-

Moreover, CPM maintains an active and dedicated program to seek out all types and levels of public funding. CPM's fundraising entails a comprehensive development program that includes annual gifts, corporate sponsorships, major gifts, in-kind gifts, foundation grants, and estate gifts. A development team, consisting of an Annual Fund manager, Corporate Development Director, Grant Writer, Vice President and CDO, and President and CEO, are responsible for soliciting funding through a variety of approaches, including written corporate and grant proposals, phone solicitations, in person solicitations, letters, and special events. The development operations also include a research/database manager. This comprehensive fundraising program illustrates that CPM is organized and operated in a manner to attract new and additional public support on a continuous basis, providing additional support of its status as a publicly supported charity. Another important factor for satisfying the public support test is the type of public support received by the organization. Treas. Reg. Sec. 1.170A-9T(f)(3)(iii)(B) provides that support "from governmental units or directly or indirectly from a representative number of persons" will be taken into consideration" in determining whether an organization satisfies the public support test. CPM clearly exemplifies an organization that satisfies this standard. CPM is internationally renowned for its History Park, where individuals are able to engage, explore, and discover what it was like to live and play in Indiana's past. Accordingly, CPM enjoys broad public support. Governmental entities support CPM all throughout the school year as school corporations send their students to utilize and experience the educational opportunities offered by CPM. Many schools visit CPM to utilize and allow students to engage in the History Park. Additionally, CPM is also supported by over 280,000 individuals that visit the museum every year, further illustrating the public impact of CPM. Of the 280,000 plus individuals that visit CPM annually, approximately 60,000 are visiting as part of a school-sponsored program (students). Furthermore, CPM's commitment to being open and available to the entire public is illustrated by the fact that an entire family can obtain an annual membership pass to CPM for a little more than $100. Finally, the influence of CPM is also shown by the summer camp that it hosts on an annual basis where over 2,500 children participate each summer. The public support of CPM is also illustrated through the representative governing body of CPM. According to Treas. Reg. sec. 1.170A-9T(f)(3)(iii)(C), an organization will be viewed as being publicly supported if the "governing body" represents the broad interests of the public, rather than the personal or private interests of a limited number of donors" and where the directors "are persons having special knowled
