Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Part II, Line 3	One easement was amended twice - once to add land to an existing easement, and once to address an IRS rule change

Return Reference	Explanation
Part II, Line 5	Conservation easements require communications with landowners, monitoring visits at least once each year, reviewing landowner plans for changes that are addressed in the easement and approving or denying them, working with the organization's attorney to deal with violations and amendments, and in some cases transferring easements to other organizations. Some easements require very little time and others require lengthy discussions, negotiations, repeated visits, and specific management. Maintaining good communication with landowners is the key factor in avoiding violations and legal quagmires. As original Grantors pass on or transfer their property, it is especially important to quickly make contact and develop relationships with the new landowners and to help them understand the purpose and restrictions of the easement if necessary.

Return Reference	Explanation
Part II, Line 9	Contributed conservation easements held by the Organization are not recorded in the financial statements because easements do not represent economic assets or resources. Purchased conservation easements are expensed on the date purchased.

Return Reference	Explanation
Part I, Line 2	Grants are awarded to partner organizations as contributions towards the acquisition of land for conservation. MCHT's Land Trust Program also extends regrants to other organizations for various conservation and related projects. MCHT's Land Trust Program manager is responsible for reviewing and monitoring each of our regrants. Final grant reports are required within generally 12 months from the date of the grant. These grant reports require the land trusts to provide the manner in which the funds were spent, a summary of the project, an evaluation of the outcomes, challenges and next steps. In addition, the land trusts are to include information on what the organization has learned through the project, particularly information that may be relevant to other conservation organizations.
