PART IX-A SUMMARY OF DIRECT CHARITABLE ACTIVITIES

STATEMENT 9

Brookfield Arts Foundation (the "Foundation") was founded in 2000 to establish, maintain and operate an educational organization for the purpose of improving popular and scholarly understanding of art and the decorative arts. The Foundation seeks to promote research into techniques of manufacture, construction, original use and ownership patterns of these objects, into the scientific analysis of materials and of original techniques; to provide care and conserve objects owned by the Foundation; with the intent of making the results of research on such objects available both to the general public and to the scholarly community; to publicly exhibit such objects owned by the Foundation (the "Collection") often in collaboration with public exhibits of similar objects owned by others; and to make grants and loans of such objects to other organizations which are exempt from federal income tax under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code.") The Foundation is organized as a non-profit corporation under the laws of the State of Delaware.

ACTIVITY ONE

During 2018, the Foundation had on loan 574 objects from the Foundation's Collection to the following major museums for display to the public: Museum of Fine Arts, Boston (Massachusetts), Peabody Essex Museum (Massachusetts), Portland Museum of Art (Maine), Historic New England (Massachusetts), Clark Art Institute (Massachusetts), Yale University Art Gallery (Connecticut), Art Institute of Chicago (Illinois), Museum of Early Southern Decorative Arts (North Carolina), Nelson Atkins Museum of Art (Missouri), Hidcote, National Trust UK (England) and the St. George's Foundation (Bermuda). The Foundation has on loan an historic house, complete with its furnishings, which number 518 objects in total. In 2018, three objects from the Collection were included in new publications. During 2018, the Foundation hosted three visits from art history scholars or researchers allowing them to examine in detail objects from the Collection. The results of their research will eventually be published in dissertations, museum publications and other scholarly books.

ACTIVITY TWO

The Foundation (a) cares for and conserves objects from its collection and (b) seeks to promote research into (i) techniques of manufacture, construction and the like and (ii) scientific analysis of materials and original techniques.

In 2018, twenty objects from the collection underwent conservation treatment. This treatment included stabilizing fragile objects as well as extensive treatments on objects with more complex condition issues, with the goal of future public display in mind. Extensive interior conservation work was completed on the historic house, including continued stabilization of the original wallpaper, a deep cleaning of the interior and the objects which are on view in the house as well as continued work to document the condition of each object currently on view and their mounting systems. The Foundation also worked with specialists to repair some of the lime render exterior, document the exterior murals and continued to address drainage issues.
