Part IV Supplemental Information. Provide the information required in Part I, line 2; Part III, column (b); and any other additional information.

College scholarships. High school seniors of our consumer/members fill out a provided application to apply for the scholarship. Applicants are then reviewed by a team that includes management of Midwest Electric and Wright State University staff members. Of the applications received (this past year around fifty), only seven applicants will receive a scholarship. Checks are made out directly to the award recipient.

Energy-efficient home rebate: Only future home owners of new construction that will be served by Midwest Electric may apply for this rebate. They contact Midwest Electric with their intent and Midwest Electric staff reviews the rebate parameters with the future homeowner. To receive the rebate, the newly built home must pass all Ohio building code requirements including those for energy efficiency. The new home must also have an electric water heater and an air-source heat pump or geothermal system.

Energy audit rebate: Midwest Electric members who wish to have a home or commercial energy audit performed will contact the office. Midwest will have an independent energy auditor meet the homeowner (or business owner) and conduct an audit of their home (or business) and provide the homeowner with a report that identifies ways (and expected payback) to address energy losses to help lower their energy bill. Midwest Electric will pay one-half of the audit fee. If the homeowner makes some of the improvements suggested, Midwest

Electric will pay the entire audit fee.

Part IV Supplemental Information. Provide the information required in Part I, line 2; Part III, column (b); and any other additional information.

Lighting rebate: In addition to offering a rebate to commercial members who upgrade their inefficient lighting, Midwest Electric will extend the same offer to residential members who operate a business enterprise as an individual (i.e. a small farm). For every watt of lighting load that is reduced, Midwest Electric will rebate the project cost $1 up to the lesser of $5,000 or 50% of the total project cost. Some residents had multiple projects in multiple locations.

Tree seedling program: All Midwest Electric members are invited to submit reimbursement requests for invoices from newly planted trees. Each member is limited to a maximum reimbursement of $15 each calendar year.

Part IV Supplemental Information. Provide the information required in Part I, line 2; Part III, column (b); and any other additional information.

In-Home Appliance and Weatherization - rebate program: Cooperative members were invited throughout the calendar year to have certain major appliances upgraded that consume large amounts of electricity. Eligible appliances included water heaters, geothermal systems, and dual fuel heating systems. To receive the rebate, (1) the appliance had to be installed in the calendar year, (2) each water heater had to allow a load-control device to be wired into the appliance's electrical supply, and (3) each geothermal and dual fuel heating system must be accompanied with an electric water heater (with a load control device). The cooperative's power supplier, Buckeye Power, would then cycle through the load control devices whenever their power peak was coincidental with the regional transmission operator's critical peaks. The program is designed to help the homeowner lower their energy consumption with modern appliances and help the cooperative lower its' contribution to critical peak pricing. By reducing some/all of the coincidental peaks, we were able to pass that avoided cost savings back to the ultimate consumer/member with a reduction in the power cost adjustment revenue rider. Each qualified water heater received a $200 rebate and the approved heating systems received a $500 rebate. Since 2013, members with electric heat sources were encouraged to add insulation and conduct air sealing projects. Each qualified insulation/air sealing project was eligible for a $200 rebate. Beginning in 2017, members were eligible to receive a $50 rebate if they provided proof that they upgraded their refrigerator or freezer with a new one that has an Energy Star rating. Some consumers were able to qualify for multiple rebates.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section A, Item 4. During the run-up to the cooperative annual meeting in June, twenty bylaw changes were presented to the membership and all twenty amendments were approved and ratified. Although sixteen of the amendments were needed to modernize the vernacular or remove antiquated processes, four of the changes were approved which rose to the necessity of being included on this 990. Those changes are:

Name of the organization	Employer identification number
Midwest Electric, Inc.	34-4304217

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section A, Item 4. (continued) ...Those changes are:

1. The Articles of Incorporation, Eighth Article: The eighth article details the process on how members can vote to change the Cooperative's Articles of Incorporation. In addition to the traditional methods of voting by mail, in person, or proxy, this wording change clarifies that this voting process can be done by electronic means as well.

2. Code of Regulations, Article IV, Directors, Section 7, Compensation: This paragraph had allowed the Cooperative to provide medical insurance for the active directors. For decades, active and inactive directors have not requested medical insurance as an element of their remuneration. This change removes that benefit potential for current and future directors.

3. Code of Regulations, Article IV, Directors, Section 9, Trustee Emeritus: This section allowed board members who attained the age of seventy-two a permanent designation as "trustee emeritus" and even after they were no longer an active board member, could still attend board meetings and functions at the discretion of the then-active Board. This provision was never utilized and the Board felt the provision was not necessary and this section was removed from the Code of Regulations.

4. Code of Regulations, Article VI, Officers, Sections 7 and 9, Duties of the President and Secretary: Because the Cooperative no longer issues membership certificates, the duties of signing and sealing membership certificates have become obsolete and those duties have been removed from both the President and the Secretary.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section A, Item 6: Each customer who receives power from our distribution network becomes a voting member of the cooperative. After the year-end audit, any excess margins are allocated back to the members from the year just closed based upon their contributions to the margins.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section A, Item 7a: The same members who are identified in question six have the opportunity to vote for the nine board member seats that come up for re-election, board members have three-year terms. Voting is handled by an independent third party and is done through the mail and an online website.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section A, Item 7b. The same members who are identified in question six have the opportunity to vote for any proposed changes in the organization's Articles of Incorporation and Code of Regulations. It takes a majority of the votes cast to approve any of the proposed regulation changes. Board members can not change the Articles of Incorporation or the Code of Regulations without a consenting membership vote.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section B, Item 10b: This entity has no local chapters, branches, or affiliates.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section B, Item 11b: Prior to a monthly board meeting, a digital version of Form 990 and the required schedules were made available on the board member's computer tablet. At the board meeting, the return was again reviewed by the board members, the corporate attorney, the CEO, the Manager of Finance and Customer Service, and the Manager of Human Resources. All present were asked if they had any questions or disagreements with the proposed filing. No changes were suggested.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section B, Item 12c: Annually, the board members and officers are required to complete a conflict of interest and disclosure questionnaire. Based upon the results of that questionnaire, any reported conflicts with third parties or internal parties are identified and may affect the board member's status. If a conflict is small, the board member must recuse himself from decisions involved with that entity/person. If the conflict is substantial or prohibitive based upon the Code of Regulations, the board member would be subject to removal as detailed in Article IV and Article VI of the Code of Regulations.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section B, Item 15: Annually, the board pays for an independent consultant to perform a wage and salary comparison of cooperative wages against those of local, state, and national businesses of like-kind size. The compensation goal of the board is to set pay within a standard deviation of the average wage paid for that position in these similar-sized organizations. The CEO will then use the same wage study and techniques to set the individual wages for management personnel of the cooperative. Each year the board of directors will conduct a performance review of the CEO to review past performance and set short-term and long-term goals. The board will then have an executive session to discuss and arrive at the CEO's salary for the upcoming year.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section B, Item 16b: Not applicable - this entity did not invest in any joint venture or any other similar arrangement with a taxable entity during the calendar year.

990 Core, Page 6, Part VI, Section C, Item 19: The cooperative gives the Articles of Incorporation and the Code of Regulations to all new members (either by mail or e-mail), any current member may also request a copy of these documents. The conflict of interest policy will be given to members upon request. The cooperative's financial statements are made available upon request but are also published annually in the member's monthly publication of the Ohio Cooperative Living magazine. The audited statements are typically displayed in the magazine in the month preceding the June annual meeting.

990 Core, Page 7, Part VII, Section A, Item 1a, Column A: Prior to the 990 completion, each board member, officer, and key employee was given an information-gathering questionnaire to complete. The questionnaire explained reportable conditions and gave the IRS' definition on key terms. Upon receipt of all eleven questionnaires, they were reviewed to identify any reportable situation. Additionally, if any reportable situation was known or observed by another governing member, they were expressed with the necessity to come forward with that information.

990 Core, Page 10, Part IX, Line 4 In adhering to IRS 990 instructions, patronage capital retired to active and former members for the calendar year is reported on this line. Conceptually, patronage capital represents a member's ownership in a cooperative and any retirement of patronage capital is, in fact, a return of that investment and not a traditional expense as viewed in standard accounting rules. By including this amount on the statement of functional expenses, we have overstated our current year's expense by $1,455,215 and we had to create a balancing adjustment on Line 24d to properly adjust our expenses back to GAAP and USDA accounting methodology.

990 Core, Page 10, Part IX, Line 24d: In adhering to the IRS 990 instructions for expense disclosures on Part IX, Statement of Functional Expenses, items that are not treated as current year expenses on our audited statements have been overstated on this tax return. For instance, large portions of labor, labor overhead, and subcontracted labor are capitalized in the cooperative's fixed assets in accordance with USDA accounting procedures. These assets have a multi-year life and are either depreciated or amortized over their useful life. Therefore, by reporting our gross payrolls in lines 5, 7, 8, 9, and 10, we need to recognize an offsetting amount in line 24d to properly identify these labor costs that have been capitalized as an element of fixed assets. In addition, as stated above in Line 4, the retirement of patronage capital is not viewed as a traditional expense but rather as a return of invested capital. Therefore, the entire amount on line 4 ($1,455,215) is not considered an expense for GAAP or USDA standards and by including this amount on Line 4, we need to create an offset amount on line 24d to successfully adjust our Total Functional Expenses back to the audited balance of $29,742,968.

990 Core, Page 10, Part IX, Columns B-D: Since this entity is not a 501(c)(3) or a 501(c)(4) entity, Columns B, C, and D were not required to be filled out and were not completed on this return.

990 Core, Page 10, Part IX, Line 26: This entity has no joint costs from column B to report.

990 Core, Page 12, Part XI, Item 9: Other changes in fund balances for the year included:

Refund of member patronage capital with general retirement	(1,435,726)
Other comprehensive income - change of FAS106 valuation	( 704,900)
Refund of member patronage due to special estate retirements	( 147,461)
Discount on early retirement of estate patronage	56,812
Forfeiture of unclaimed patronage capital	27,150
Total other changes in fund balance	(2,204,125)

990 Core, Page 12, Part XII, Item 1: This entity did not change its' accounting method.

990 Core, Page 12, Part XII, Item 2c: The board of directors has a sub-committee that has the responsibility of selecting an independent auditor to annually audit the cooperative's financial statements. The committee has the ability to meet with the auditor prior to and after the audit has been completed. This process has been consistent from year-to-year.
