The most recent report, the 2016 Golf Economy Report, measured golf's direct economic contributions in the U.S. at $84.1 billion, and found that the industry has impacted 1.89 million jobs with total wage income of $58.7 billion. Significant efforts are also underway to quantify golf's impact at the state level. We Are Golf has collaborated on a template through which states can measure and demonstrate golf's contributions to a variety of key constituencies. In total, impact reports have been completed for 34 states, and it is planned to complete approximately four new states reports each year.
