Part II, Section C, 17a

Public support of EWB-International in 2018 was 29% as a result of a few donors who made large gifts. There are over 65 membership organizations from various countries. Thirty-one of the membership associations are full members and the remaining are start-ups. Full members are required to have active and verifiable projects; participate in EWB-International's platform of coordination; collaboration and mutual partnerships; and must be incorporated with a national status in its own region. Start-ups receive mentoring from full-members and share in the vision and mission of Engineers Without Borders-International. Each of the nine board members is actively involved in projects in their communities which have broad appeal to persons with common interests.
