Name: Sustainable Conservation

Form 990 (2018)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Water Management - Water is in short supply in California. Sustainable Conservation evaluates new water management approaches so farms, the environment, and communities have the water they need for years to come. We work in the agriculture-rich Central Valley to evaluate and promote the capture of storm water flood flows on active farmland to replenish groundwater aquifers, California's most important drought reserve. In 2018, we helped recharge hundreds of acre-feet of water on Central Valley farmland. We also continued to perfect our innovative Groundwater Recharge Assessment Tool, which helps California irrigation districts and water managers maximize groundwater-recharge opportunities in their communities.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Accelerating Restoration - We make it easier for landowners to steward natural resources. We work with government agencies to simplify the permitting process so landowners can complete projects that restore streams, rebuild habitat, and reduce soil erosion in a few months rather than a few years. A significant 2018 accomplishment was working with agency partners to develop a programmatic Biological Assessment for the National Marine Fisheries Service (NMFS) to review, approve and use to issue a programmatic Biological Opinion (BO). A BO like this one is an example of a "pre-developed" permit, which eliminates the need to write a brand-new permit for each project. Now, projects just need to qualify for the pre-written permit to be eligible for approval. This new permit means 20 different types of common restoration projects that might impact the endangered species NMFS is charged with protecting can now move forward more quickly without sacrificing any environmental protections.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

Dairies - We work with California dairy producers to promote management practices that are more protective of water and air quality and work economically. We've tested and refined an innovative liquid manure drip irrigation system that applies nutrients more precisely to crop root zones, which in turn leads to significantly less nitrogen leaching into groundwater supplies. In 2018, we continued our work under a national Natural Resources Conservation Innovation Grant on three commercial dairies covering more than 200 acres in the San Joaquin Valley. Our pilots have shown that dairies can produce the same or better yields with up to 75% less nitrogen, 40% less water, and 90% less nitrous oxide emissions. Nitrous oxide is a greenhouse gas 300 times more powerful than carbon dioxide, the chief greenhouse gas.

| Part II-B, Line 1i - Other Activities Description | AB 3014 would have created an exemption to one of the timelines for the removal of copper from vehicle brake pads created by SB 346 (Kehoe) in 2010, which Sustainable Conservation co-sponsored. We were concerned that AB 3014 had the potential to significantly weaken what has been a very successful implementation of SB 346's mandate. We lobbied in opposition to the bill through mobilization of our partners and supporters, meetings with legislative staff, letters of opposition to the author and relevant policy committee, and testimony before a policy committee. AB 2649 would have created an expedited process for interim water rights permits for high water flows in the context of the Sustainable Groundwater Management Act. We met with organizations with interest in and/or concerns about the bill, as well as the State Water Board, wrote two support letters, and testified in support before the Assembly policy committee. |
