Schedule J, Part I, Line 1a	For the convenience of the college, Mr. Bruess accepted a personal residence within the proximity of the college as a condition of his employment. Also, Mr. Bruess and Mr. Lamm have been provided memberships at local country clubs, which are considered working condition fringe benefits and proper substantiation to the college exists. These items are used for business/entertainment on behalf of the college. Nothing has been included as taxable income. Also, the college paid for President Bruess spouse's travel expenses to attend various college functions. These costs have not been included as taxable compensation, as the spouse had bona fide business purposes for being on the trips in accordance with IRS Reg. 1.132-5(t).

990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, Line 12c	The organization regularly and consistently monitors and enforces compliance with the policy. Exempt (salaried) employees and faculty must complete a "Conflict Disclosure Statement" at the time of hire and in September of each year thereafter and return the statements to the Vice President of Business and Finance. The director of finance and the director of human resources review all statements to determine whether the relationship or transaction is inappropriate. If a relationship or transaction appears to have potential for a conflict of interest, the Vice President of Business and Finance will also review the statement. The reviewing group informs the employee of whether the transaction or relationship will be permitted and under what circumstances. Related to trustees, by-laws require them to disclose any potential conflicts. Every trustee is required to complete a "Conflict Disclosure Statement" upon their assignment to the board. This submission is being reviewed for conflict by a member of the board of trustees. The current members are expected to inform of any changes that lead to potential conflicts.
