SCHEDULE D, PART X LINE 2	AANA is subject to income taxes pertaining to unrelated business income. The accounting standard on accounting for uncertainty in income taxes addresses the determination of whether tax benefits claimed or expected to be claimed on a tax return should be recorded in the financial statements. Under this guidance, AANA may recognize the tax benefit from an uncertain tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained on examination by taxing authorities, based on the technical merits of the position. Examples of tax positions include the tax-exempt status of AANA and various positions related to the potential sources of unrelated business taxable income. The tax benefits recognized in the consolidated financial statements from such a position are measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50 percent likelihood of being realized upon settlement. AANA would account for any potential interest or penalties related to the possible future liabilities for unrecognized income tax benefits as interest expense or income tax expense, respectively. AANA's income tax returns are subject to examination by federal and state taxing authorities. There are currently no examinations for any tax periods pending or in progress.
