Accion Venture Lab, L.P.

Transaction Overview: $2.5 million equity investment in the anticipated $20 million Accion Venture Lab, L.P. (the Fund). Building on Accion Venture Lab's (AVL) expertise in the financial technology market and existing portfolio of $14 million across 33 startups in 24 countries, AVL 2.0 anticipates making 25 equity investments in portfolio companies and 10-15 follow on investments in seed-stage startups, supporting bold, disruptive innovation to advance financial inclusion. The Fund is sponsored and managed by the nonprofit Accion International that is making a $10 million commitment to invest para passu and pro rata with the fund investments. Accion International support for the AVL staff expenses allows seed stage investments to be extensively supported.

Accion International is one of MetLife Foundation's strongest and largest global partners. Foundation grants totaling $17.6 million have supported Accion International affiliates since 2002, recently focused on institutional capacity building to leverage digital technologies for scale.

The expenditure responsibility for the transaction included the following components.

Pre-transaction inquiry. Due diligence was performed that is consistent with standards used for MetLife's impact investment program that originates assets for both the MetLife Foundation and insurance company general account assets. The assessment included review of charitable purpose which in this case was to support quality middle-skill jobs for low- and moderate-income New Yorkers in the creative economy.

Establish proper terms. The terms were evaluated by experienced investment professionals, authorized by a MetLife Investment Management credit committee, and memorialized in transactions documents with the support of investments counsels.

Reporting requirements. Reporting requirements are established in the transaction documents.

Receipt and review of reports. MetLife Foundation has received and reviewed reporting documents.

Investigate any diversion of funds. MetLife monitors investments, including PRI investments managed for the MetLife Foundation, to identify fraud including diversion of funds.

Attached is the annual Expenditure Responsibility report.

HOPE Federal Credit Union

Transaction Overview: MetLife Foundation (MLF) lent $2.5 million of secondary capital to the HOPE Federal Credit Union (HOPE), a low-income credit union. Proceeds allow HOPE to expand more quickly than would be supported by retained earnings alone and subject to HOPE's Secondary Capital Plan that has been approved by the National Credit Union Administration (NCUA). HOPE's plan calls for expansion to provide financial services to low-income and minority people in five Southern States. MetLife Foundation's loan triggers the final $1.5 million disbursement from Kresge Foundation's total $3 million secondary capital loan.

The expenditure responsibility for the transaction included the following components.

Pre-transaction inquiry. Due diligence was performed that is consistent with standards used for MetLife's impact investment program that originates assets for both the MetLife Foundation and insurance company general account assets. The assessment included review of charitable purpose which in this case was to expand high quality financial services to low-income consumers.

Establish proper terms. The terms were evaluated by experienced investment professionals, authorized by a MetLife Investment Management credit committee, and memorialized in transactions documents with the support of investments counsels.

Reporting requirements. Reporting requirements are established in the transaction documents. Credit union regulators require quarterly reporting.

Receipt and review of reports. MetLife Foundation has received and reviewed reporting documents.

Investigate any diversion of funds. MetLife monitors investments, including PRI investments managed for the MetLife Foundation, to identify fraud including diversion of funds.

Local Initiative Support Corporation

Transaction Overview: MetLife Foundation (MLF) lent $1.0 million to Local Initiative Support Corporation. The note supports the NYC Inclusive Creative Economy Fund program's provision of loans to nonprofit and mission-driven organizations that own, lease and manage affordable space so that businesses in the creative economy can get started, take root and thrive. By establishing and preserving affordable spaces for business incubation, maker and artist studios, cultural activities, and light manufacturing, the Fund will foster quality middle-skill jobs for low- and moderate-income New Yorkers.

The Fund promotes inclusivity in the creative economy by investing in nonprofit and mission-driven organizations that provide opportunities in low-income neighborhoods, promote job quality and create connections to local community colleges and workforce programs.

The expenditure responsibility for the transaction included the following components.
