GENERAL NOTE JOINT COST ALLOCATIONS	For many years, the Fund for Animals (the Fund) has relied on direct mail, email, telephone and other means of solicitation to recruit, expand and maintain its membership. Direct marketing and other donor channels allow the Fund to share specific details about recent accomplishments and to provide information about current campaigns and priorities to millions of supporters. The Fund also uses postal mail -- and other channels -- to educate and to call the public to action to advance its mission and lifesaving work for animals. This is why, in accordance with Financial Accounting Standards Board (FASB) guidelines, the Fund allocates a portion of its direct mail, email, phone and other communication costs to program services and to fundraising. Such costs are allocated to each major program, including- 1) Direct Animal Care Services - the Fund operates one of the nation's largest and most diverse network of animal sanctuaries. Year after year the fund provides hands-on care and safe haven for many hundreds of animals, including those rescued from cruelty and neglect, victims of the exotic pet trade, injured and orphaned wildlife, refugees from research labs and more. The Fund manages the Cleveland Amory Black Beauty Ranch in Murchison, TX, the Fund for Animals Wildlife Center in Ramona, CA and the Duchess Sanctuary in Oakland, OR. The RAVS (Rural Area Veterinary Services) program provides essential animal health care in impoverished remote communities. 2) Humane Education and Advocacy - Animals enter the fund's sanctuary system from all over the country every year, and sanctuary staff members provide service and expertise throughout the nation, advising government agencies, private institutions, and the public on humane solutions to human-wildlife conflicts and migratory populations, while pushing for public policies that benefit wild animals and wild animal habitats. The Fund's animal care centers provide personalized tours, externship programs for professional students and volunteer opportunities for visitors from around the country.
