Other or change in accounting method Part XII line 1	The Organization incorporated donated materials / gifts in kind into its financial reporting for 2016. Donated materials (non-cash contributions) are valued at fair market value. For 80% of the donated materials, the valuation has been determined by the donors stated value per item for each shipment. For donated materials where the donors stated value was not available, estimated fair market values were determined by pricing items off the internet and using estimates from the Executive Director based on the value of other shipments. The Organizations management has determined that average shelf lives of donated materials are around two to three weeks. Due to this and the fact that the Organization cannot afford additional personnel to track inventory, neither can it afford an automated system, no inventory of product is maintained. Management believes that it is far too expensive and impractical as well. This applies to tracking inventory on an on-going basis and to taking inventory at the end of the year. Management has also determined that inventory tracking of any kind (besides cost and practicality) would also be a significant impediment to operations, greatly hindering the capacity to make shipments on time. The donated materials for 2015 have been estimated and for comparability purposes restated in the 2016 return (herein)
