Second Chances Wildlife Center (SCWC or the Organization) provides hands-on education programs for preschool through adult. Many of these programs will include live animals that accompany the instructor. Second Chances director, Brigitte Brouillard, is the lead educator and program developer. She was a full-time teacher for eighteen years. Overlapping with her classroom teaching positions, she has taught at the Louisville Zoo for the past seventeen years. She is a certified Environmental Educator and is both an instructor and facilitator in Project Wet, Project Wild, and Project Learning Tree. She is passionate about what she teaches and is thrilled to be able to touch more people through Environmental Education. SCWC was able to reach over 3,000 students through these programs. At least 10% of the students were from high at-risk facilities or schools. Looking for a fun and useful Professional Development for teachers? Brigitte is a trained facilitator and can certify your teachers in Project Learning Tree, Project Wild, and Project Wet! Project Learning Tree for Early Childhood can help your Early Childhood Program reach your NAEYC goals! Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Second Chances was founded in 2009 and is located on 23 acres just south of Louisville, in Mt Washington and serves the surrounding counties. The entire state of Kentucky and Southern Indiana utilizes Second Chances for specialized bat rehabilitation. Each year the organization cares for over one hundred injured, displaced, or orphaned wildlife animals. Many of them are babies that need round the clock intensive care. Some neonates come to the organization just days or even hours new with umbilical cords still attached. Some native mammal species that the organization takes in include skunks, opossums, flying squirrels, eastern grey and red squirrels, raccoons, mink, and bats, some of which are federally endangered. Brigette Brouillard, the founder and executive director has had special training in the rehabilitation bats and works closely with Federal Fish and Wildlife bat biologists. The Organization rehabilitates bats from all over Kentucky. Approximately 90% of our patients are with the organization due to human encroachment in some way. The Organization deworms and vaccinates all animals before they are released. The average stay at the center depends on the health of the animals. Should a healthy baby come in, it could be with the organization for several months! Raccoons stay with the organization an average of six months. Would you believe that beavers stay with rehabilitators for two-three years? When the animals are ready to transition back into the wild, the organization provides them with a safe area. This area contains food and water sources and is in a location with minimal human interference and no hunting.
