HANV supplements the work of shelter partners by offering a variety of shelter services, including providing access to entertainment events for shelter residents, coordinating donation drives and organizing a yearly conference for those who work directly with this population. One of HANV's most popular traditions is its annual night at the ballpark residents from area homeless shelters are invited to attend a Minor League ballgame, enjoy the concessions, run the bases after the game, and watch fireworks. In 2019, HANV provided hundreds of tickets to a Night at the ballpark, as well as to other events like Disney on Ice. By providing admission to entertainment events, HANV is offering children and families an opportunity to put aside the stress of homelessness, if only for an evening. Through its helping hands programs, HANV facilitates the collection of useful items for distribution to families experiencing homelessness or transitioning out of homelessness. Every year, prior to the start of school, HANV coordinates a backpack collection. In 2019, HANV collected 450 backpacks which were then distributed to children living in shelters. HANV has solicited the collection of grocery cards, home essentials and boxes of diapers for re-distribution to families and individuals transitioning from homelessness. HANV's charitable reach extends to include assistance to unsheltered individuals. HANV also hosts an annual housing forum, bringing together more than 130 housing and homeless service providers from 49 non-profit and governmental organizations participants at this event share best practices and challenges. A highlight of this event is the chance for attendees to network and discuss with experts from national organizations important topics like racial equity and homelessness this forum is offered as a service to HANV's non-profit partners.

Inc

Form 990 (2019)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Homeaid Northern Virginia leverages the relationships and resources of the homebuilding industry to build and renovate housing facilities owned and operated by non-profit service providers. HVNA connects non-profit service providers with homebuilders who generously offer their experience, time and resources to create beautifully constructed or renovated spaces. In 2019, HANV coordinated more than $400,000 in in-kind donations from regional home building professionals and trade partners to renovate three housing facilities for these projects. HANV coordinated the work of seven homebuilders and 130 trade partners. The projects that HANV undertakes benefit the non-profit partners that own and operate the shelters and provides dignified spaces for individuals and families experiencing homelessness to heal and to thrive. The projects completed in 2019 served a range of people including those with mental illnesses, individuals with disabilities and children. The renovations varied project to project and included adding storage space and shelving, installing new flooring, improving accessibility into the facilities, updating new cabinets, countertops and appliances in kitchens, and improving bathrooms. In all cases, the renovations improved the efficiency and increased the safety of the spaces. By donating their services and materials, HANV's home builder partners allow the non-profits to stretch their funds and focus on programs and trainings rather than on building projects.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

The Shelter Services Program fills in the gaps by providing donations of household goods and food items for projects recently completed, as well as planning outreach and enrichment events for individuals and families experiencing homelessness and providing training for Shelter staff through the Annual Housing Forum. These programs help families and individuals experiencing homelessness gain stability by providing a roof over their heads and by offering the tools necessary to rebuild their lives on a secure foundation of self-confidence and hope.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

The Turnover program was initiated in 2018, designed to help organization prepare units for new tenants by painting and replacing flooring. We connect our builders with non-profits with the rapid rehousing model being at the forefront. Many of the non-profits own the condos or townhouses that house a family for a period of time and need to be quickly turned over once vacant. The program focuses on replacing carpet with luxury vinyl planking (LVP), which has a higher upfront cost but is far more durable and easier to keep clean--meaning long-term savings for HomeAid partners and dignified, healthy spaces for the clients they serve.
