Grantmaker's Description of How Grants are Used	The organization collects the following information from individuals that identify as trans, that are seeking to update identity documents, and are in a position of financial need : date of application, - name, pronouns, phone number, email, language they would you like to use when working with the organization, location, documents they need help with, and whether they have previous criminal record. Once this information is collected, volunteers from the organization's microgrants program contact the applicants via phone or email to verify their identity and their level of financial need. Because we trust our applicants to determine their own identities and to best understand their unique financial situation, the verification process is a conversation that takes into account the various intersections of the applicants' life circumstances. Once the applicants' needs are assessed a supervising staff member will review the case and then disburse the individual grant. Due to the small amount of funds disbursed to each individual recipient and the desire to avoid adding barriers to vulnerable individuals already facing significant challenges in accessing services, we do not subject grant recipients to reporting requirements beyond the ones described here.

Form 990, Part III, Line 2: New Services	The Family & Friends callback system launched in May 2019. It was a project that took around a year to plan and allows for cis friends and loved ones of trans people to call our line and receive a callback from a cis volunteer who has experience supporting trans loved ones. The project was planned and is headed up by a full-time hotline staff operator. The line makes around 5 callbacks weekly. The Inside Advocacy program had a soft launch in 2018, where it was able to work on one individual grant, but successfully picked up speed with several new accomplishments in 2019, with the hiring of a staff member to oversee the program. With that, we were able to offer both commissary grants and re-entry grants to a total of 25 people, while beginning to build infrastructure to support more long-term growth.
