990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Section B, line 12c	The organization regularly and consistently monitors potential or actual conflict of interest and action is taken accordingly. Directors, officers and other pertinent employees are instructed regarding conflict of interest, recusal from decision making. They have an affirmative duty to report those conflicts to the compliance officer directly or through the compliance hotline annually and as they become aware. An ongoing list of reported actual or potential related parties is kept by the compliance officer and made available to those determined to be in major decision making roles. Major contracts are reviewed by the president and CEO, Chief Financial Officer and compliance officer for potential or actual conflict. This allows decision making in the best interest of the company, assessment of the availability and cost of comparable goods and services and whether it meets the code of conduct. If after any material fact gathering, there is still a question whether the transaction is appropriate, the corporate attorney is consulted. A final decision is then made by the president/CEO or board depending upon the nature of the transaction. All reported conflicts of interest are reported on the annual Form 990, as appropriate.
