International Peace Research Association Foundation
2019 FORM 990-PF PART IX-A SCHEDULE VI Page 7
Summary of Direct Charitable Activities
E.I.N. 84-1119559

	Program Service Expenses
The organization's primary exempt purpose is to advance the field of peace research and to promote peace activities informed by peace research by providing grants for activities of the international peace research community representing the International Peace Research Association and its commissions and other peace researchers. We promote knowledge of non-violent peace strategies and worldwide peace communication.
a The Senesh Fellowship - a 2 year fellowship (total $10,000) awarded to two women from countries in the Global South for university studies in the fields of peace and development. The Foundation provided one allocation of $5,000 to Carla Haydee Granados Moya, of Peru, in a PhD program in Social Anthropology at the New Sorbonne University, Paris, France,, and Basant Motawi, of Egypt, in a PhD program in Epidemiology and Public Health, major in Gender Based Violence, at the Univ. of Maryland. When the recipients graduate and return to their developing countries, many people benefit from their educations. There was a wire fee of $45 and administrative contract labor fees of $2,042.50. (Grants and allocations $10,000)	$11,185.00
b Peace Research Grants - The Foundation provides small grants of $1,000-$5,000 to support peace research projects in the international peace research community for individuals or organizations. Research results are published. This program benefits a large and diverse number of people internationally in addition to the grant recipient due to the requirement that recipients disseminate the research widely. Four new grants were funded in 2019, of which $3,000 each was paid to three of the recipients and $2,730 was paid to the fourth, and four more awardees were paid their final $2,000 payments. Travel grants of $10,377.31 were made for past awardees to present their research at the IPRA Peace Studies conference. Other expenses included a wire transfer fees of $360 and administrative contract labor fees of $9,310. (Grants and allocations $30,107.31)	$57,453.50
c General Program Expenses support the running of the other programs including the programs that had no grants or expenses this year. Such expenses include website expenses. The website is the primary way applicants learn about the Foundation's programs and how to apply for them. It is the way the foundation disseminates its research. $5,815 was paid for webmaster services in 2018 as well as $391.76 for other website expenses. The website was rebuilt at a cost of $10,402.30 plus related Social Media labor of $264.90. Newsletter contract labor, another way to disseminate our research, was $290. There were specific program related bookkeeping costs of $855 and subscriptions of $378. This program benefits all IPRA Foundation grant applicants and all others in the world who are affected by our mission. (Grants and allocations $ 0)	$5,035.00
d International Peace Research Association support - In some years, the Foundation provides allocations to the International Peace Research Association to support IPRA members from economically weak countries to attend the biennial International Peace Research Association Conferences around the world and to support other aspects of IPRA. One grant of $30,000 was made to IPRA for travel grants for conference participants to attend the conference, $335 in contract labor, and $45 in wire transfer fees. (Grants and allocations $30,000)	$75.00
Total Program Service Expenses (Part I line 26d)	$73,748.50

DOROTHY MARCHUS SENESH FELLOWSHIP FOR WOMEN FROM COUNTRIES IN THE GLOBAL SOUTH IN PEACE AND DEVELOPMENT STUDIES

FIFTEENTH BIENNIAL AWARD
2018-2019

The International Peace Research Association Foundation
The IPRA Foundation was founded in 1990 as a non-profit, tax-exempt organization. The Foundation's purpose is to promote peace research and scholarship throughout the world.

DOROTHY MARCHUS SENESH FELLOWSHIP
The International Peace Research Association Foundation invites applications for the Dorothy Marchus Senesh Fellowship in Peace and Development Studies for Women from countries in the Global South. Dorothy Senesh was a long-time activist for international peace and justice. Her husband, Lawrence, established this fellowship following her death in 1989. The first award was made at the IPRA 25th Anniversary conference, July 1990, in Groningen, Netherlands and has been made biennially ever since.

AWARDS
Every other year (beginning in 1990) two women receive school expenses in the amount of $5,000 per year for two years.

ELIGIBILITY
The Dorothy Senesh Fellowship is available to women from countries in the Global South who have completed a Bachelor's degree, who have been accepted into a graduate program, and whose graduate work is to be focused on issues related to the goals of IPRA (see below.) Funds will only be dispersed when the selected candidate is admitted into a graduate program. Awards are considered based on need; therefore students with substantial funding sources are less likely to be considered for the award.

This fellowship is not for research purposes and proposals. Do not apply if you are male, if you are an undergraduate, or if you are not from a country in the Global South.

APPLICATION
Applications are due by January 15, 2018.
Announcement of the Awards will be made by March 1, 2018.

The link to the English or Spanish Application form can be found below. Please write in English or in Spanish.

SENESH FELLOWSHIP REQUIRED APPLICATION MATERIALS:

1) Application (English or Spanish)
2) Letter of Acceptance to your graduate program (may be pdf)
3) 3 Letters of Recommendation (recommenders must email letters directly to Ms. Crystal Money.)

EMAIL ONE COPY OF THE APPLICATION FORM To Program Administrative Assistant Ms. Crystal N. Money at:

ABOUT IPRA

The International Peace Research Association (IPRA) is an independent international non-governmental body with members in over seventy countries and all regions of the world. IPRA was founded in 1965 to advance interdisciplinary research into the conditions of peace, as well as the causes of war and other forms of violence. It utilizes different social disciplines to analyze and explain conflictual and peaceful processes at the national and international levels. IPRA researchers are able to test their individual research in working groups covering a range of topics including communications, conversion from military to civilian production, defense and disarmament, ecological security, food policy, human rights and development, internal conflict resolution, international conflict resolution, nonviolence, peace building in crisis areas, peace education, peace movements, refugees, religious conflict, and women and peace.

IPRA Foundation Peace Research Grant Procedure

The IPRA Foundation is proud that it receives so many superb peace research proposals from scholars around the world and it brings us great sadness that we are only able to fund a very small number of them. Because the quality of many proposals we receive is so very high, and because winning applicants take such care to follow all the instructions below, applications that fall short will not be considered.
In the year 2018, only two proposals per cycle will be funded.

The IPRA Foundation invites proposals that are in line with our Mission, Vision and Core Values:

Mission: The mission of the IPRA Foundation is to advance the field of peace research through rigorous investigation into the causes of conflict and examination of alternatives to violence. Peace researchers inform peace activities that inspire visions of a peaceful world.

Vision: The vision of the IPRA Foundation is to:
- Inspire visions of a peaceful world
- Promote knowledge of non-violent peace strategies
- Increase the number of peace scholars around the world
- Encourage peace science and arts
- Further the purpose and activities of IPRA
- Grow worldwide communication and collaboration among peace researchers

Core values:
- Impactful and socially relevant research: We value original research, and peace activities informed by that research, that contributes to the world community and engages key stakeholders.
- Positive Peace: We value peace and justice by nonviolent means.
- Respect: We value respecting dignity, humanity, identity and diversity.
- Empowerment: We value research by people of and within the most vulnerable and marginalized areas of our world community.

INELIGIBLE APPLICANTS

Only one grant will be awarded to any applicant from the Peace Research Grant Program. If you have previously received a grant, please do not apply for another.

Other ineligible applicants include family members, students or people with other unacceptable relationships of or to a current or past member of the Board of Directors of the IPRA Foundation or non-Board reviewer, members of the Board of Directors of the IPRA Foundation, or non-Board reviewers.

PROCESS

The Grant Administrator accepts all the required grant application documents, communicates with applicants, sends grant applications to the review committee, collates the committee's results, informs applicants whether or not they have won an IPRA Foundation Peace Research Grant, and continues to follow up with grant recipients to collect interim and final reports. The current Grant Administrator is Crystal Money.

GRANT APPLICATION INSTRUCTIONS

Four documents: To apply for a Peace Research Grant, please fill out the application form, document #1 below, and email it and documents #2 and #3 together at one time to the Grant Administrator, Crystal Money. Authors of document #4 should submit that letter by email directly to Grant Administrator Crystal Money.

1. Completed Peace Research Grant Application Form - Emailed by applicant
2. Your Curriculum Vitae - Emailed by applicant
3. Your Project Proposal, which conforms to the Project Proposal Guidelines below - Emailed by applicant

PROJECT PROPOSAL INSTRUCTIONS

The Project Proposal should include your explanation of the problem or research question investigated by the project, the goals of the project, a detailed research strategy, a timeline for completion of the project, a budget, a brief, relevant bibliography, and full contact information (including phone, postal and email address) for three references. The Project Proposal document must not exceed six single-spaced pages exclusive of bibliography with 1 inch margins all around, Times New Roman Font 12. (For suggestions on how to address these issues and to structure the proposal, please consult The Foundation Center Learning Lab.)

The proposal must address how the project furthers the goals and mission of the International Peace Research Association Foundation, which are to advance interdisciplinary research into the conditions of peace and the causes of war and other forms of violence. Peace research is distinguished by its attention to systematic observation or study of conflict phenomena and peace strategies. We are especially interested in projects that investigate how the conditions of peace can be advanced and/or the causes of war and other forms of violence be addressed, including their effects on people and society.

The Project Proposal should also include a dissemination plan that explains how you will share your research and how your research could lead to action that will promote peace.

The Project Proposal must include all of the following 9 components:

1. the explanation of the problem or research question investigated by the project
2. the objectives of the project
3. a detailed research strategy
4. a timeline for completion of the project (including projected Project End Date)
5. a budget
6. a brief, relevant bibliography
7. full contact information (including phone, postal and email address) for three references
8. must address how the project furthers the goals and mission of IPRAF...etc (as on website)
9. a dissemination plan that...etc (as on website)

In the interest of committing the IPRA Foundation towards the best support of our core values, we note the following criteria:

- You are expected to demonstrate how your project supports nonviolent strategies in peace and conflict studies. We are especially interested in projects that investigate how the conditions of peace can be advanced and/or the causes of war and other forms of violence be addressed, including their effects on people and society.
- You are expected to identify your strategy for disseminating the results of the project to a broad audience and key stakeholders. Beyond academic journals, we recognize the value of cultural art forms, mainstream publications, TED talks, etc.
- You are responsible for ensuring the safety and privacy of the research participants.
- If you receive a Peace Research Grant, you agree to include the following statement in all current and future written and oral presentations related to this research project: "This research was funded by the Peace Research Grant Program of the International Peace Research Association Foundation."
- Special consideration will be given to researchers who demonstrate language and/or cultural competence in the research context.

The Project Proposal must be formatted as follows:

- Length: Maximum length of document must be 6 single-spaced pages (not including the bibliography).
- Margins: 1 inch margins all around
- Font: Times New Roman Font size 12

(For suggestions on how to address these issues and to structure the proposal, please consult The Foundation Center Learning Lab.)

FUNDING RESTRICTIONS

All funds must be used for the intended research project. We will only support substantiated expenses directly related to the research project. Budgets that include non-allowed expenses will cause your application and proposal to be rejected. It is your responsibility to make sure your budget only includes allowed items. If you have questions about whether or not an expense is allowable, please ask, but do not ask about any of the non-allowable expenses listed below. Non-allowed budget expenses include, but are not limited to:

- Fees by a third party such as a university to administer your grant
- Your normal living expenses such as rent, utilities, phone, etc.
- School tuition
- Salary for Primary Investigator
- Any expenses not directly related to the project

Translation expenses will only be permitted in limited and substantiated circumstances. If you have translation expenses, please ask if they are allowable.

Successful grant awardees are expected to submit receipts or other proof of budgeted payment amounts before the final payment will be processed.

Important Note: Our Peace Research Grants do not allow for indirect costs, particularly in the form of facilities or administration. All funds must be used for the intended research project.

Successful applicants may not modify proposals after being awarded a grant. Modification of a proposal after acceptance will void that award and any money already received must be refunded to the IPRA Foundation. However, the entire proposal may be rewritten and submitted as a new proposal for the next cycle.

All funding decisions are final. We do not accept complaints or arguments about the decisions of the IPRA Foundation and we will not respond to them. We will not accept future applications from unsuccessful applicants who question the reviewers' decisions.

Successful applicants agree to include the following in all current and future written and oral presentations related to this research project: "This research was funded by the Peace Research Grant Program of the International Peace Research Association Foundation." If you are interested in viewing previous recipients, please view the Grant Awardees page.

FOUR IMPORTANT DATES FOR APPLICANTS

1) Initial Award Date: Successful applicants will receive 60% of their award at the beginning of the project, i.e. on the initial award date, and the final 40% only after project completion and a final report as described below has been submitted, and all other requirements have been met.

2) Project End Date: The Project Proposal should state the date the project is anticipated to end. After the grant is awarded, the actual completion date may be negotiated with the Grant Administrator should unanticipated circumstances arise. The project end date is set at one year after the date the awardee receives the grant money, at which time all required final documents are due.

3) Six Month Progress Report: A one page progress report 6 months after receiving a grant must be submitted summarizing how the money has been spent to date, what has been accomplished, obstacles and delays, if any, and next steps.

4) Final Report and Newsletter Article/Abstract Date: The Final Report due date is the same as the Project End Date (above). The final project written report is a three-four page, single-spaced final written report in Word format to the IPRA Foundation after the project's completion. This report must identify project outcomes, including what was accomplished and learned. Primary Investigators should also explain additional dissemination and publication plans as part of the project outcomes. This final report must be completed within the timeline submitted in the proposal or within a revised, agreed upon timeline.

In addition, an awardee will provide a brief report on the project and its outcomes written in a style appropriate for the IPRA Foundation Newsletter. This brief report of 250-500 words, single-spaced, in Word format, is due on the Final Report Date. The outstanding 40% of grant funding will be disbursed upon receipt of these reports and all other required materials.

Statement of how the organization determines that individuals or organizations receiving grants qualify to receive payments

Senesh Fellowship:
International applications are received and reviewed by several levels of committees every two years for two Fellowships. The Fellowship is available to women from developing countries who have completed a Bachelor's degree, who have been accepted into a graduate program and whose graduate work is to be focused on issues related to the goals of IPRA. Priority is given to scholars/researchers who are women, first from a developing country, second from Eastern Europe, or third, unable to pay. See Schedule VII Attachment 3-2d for more information. Instructions for applying appear on our website.

Peace Research Grants:
International applications are received and reviewed by several members of a committee made up of members of the Board of Directors and a Review Board. Instructions for applying appear on our website. Proposals must concern advancing interdisciplinary research into the conditions of peace and the causes of war and other forms of violence. Peace research is distinguished by its attention to systematic observation or study of conflict phenomena and peace strategies. We give special attention to any project that explains how the conditions of peace can be advanced and/or the causes of war and other forms of violence be removed. Applicants must include a dissemination plan that explains how they plan to share their research findings with others. See Schedule VII Attachment 4-2d for more information.
