	Foundation exists to provide for engineering education based upon academics and financial need. Foundation provides six $1,200 scholarships to engineering schools in Oregon to fund education of engineering students meeting criteria, plus additional $500 scholarships to engineering students, number varies each year (4 in 2019). Selection of candidates for grants is made by the Dean of Engineering of the individual schools, based upon foundation criteria. Currently fund a minimum of one $1,200 grant for every accredited engineering school in Oregon. Selection of the number of scholarships, or schools is based upon total enrollment in the engineering program per school. Oregon State University has more engineering students enrolled than the other schools combined, thus received more student grants.
