Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Part III, Line 1a:	In conformity with industry practice, the value of art objects in the permanent collection are not recorded in statements of financial position. The art collection is catalogued and tracked for its educational value. Objects deemed no longer appropriate for the collection are de-accessioned according to a rigorous, established policy developed in accordance with ethical guidelines for art museums. Proceeds from deaccessioning are used to acquire other objects for the collection.

Return Reference	Explanation
Part III, Line 4:	The Currier Museum's permanent collection is the core of the institution's mission. These works of art, preserved for the benefit of the public, are used for exhibition, research, and education. Among the approximately 14,000 objects in the collection are two houses built in Manchester by Frank Lloyd Wright, which are regularly open to the public.

Part V, Line 4:	Endowment funds are used for museum operations, art acquisition, and scholarships.

Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Part X, Line 2:	The Internal Revenue Service, in a letter dated July 16, 2004, determined that the Museum is a publicly-supported charity under Internal Revenue Code Section 501(c)(3) and, therefore, not subject to federal income taxes or federal excise taxes imposed upon private foundations. Tax-exempt organizations could be required to record an obligation for income taxes as the result of a tax position they have historically taken on various tax exposure items including unrelated business income or tax status. In accordance with U.S. GAAP, assets and liabilities are established for uncertain tax positions taken or positions expected to be taken in income tax returns when such positions are judged to not meet the "more-likely-than-not" threshold, based upon the technical merits of the position. Management has evaluated the Museum's tax positions taken on its filed tax returns and concluded that the Museum has maintained its tax-exempt status, does not have any significant unrelated business income and has taken no uncertain tax positions that require adjustment to the financial statements. Any interest and penalties would be recorded in income tax expense.
