Return Reference	Explanation
Schedule I, part I, line 2	Financial need is defined as the difference between what it costs to attend Westside school and a family's ability to pay. Westside school uses the services of school and student service for financial aid (sss) for computation and evaluation of need. Interested families complete a form that is sent to sss and sss generates a report that is then sent to Westside school. The report provides the tuition assistance committee with a general assessment of a family's ability to pay for education. Major factors in determining financial need include, but are not limited to: income, assets (including home equity, college funds, and investments), number of dependents, and the number of children attending tuition-charging institutions, excluding daycare and graduate school. The tuition assistance committee may recalculate the report in the following cases: a family's voluntary reduction in income, divorce, or separation of parents, a non-working parent, and loss of income or unusual expenses.
