Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Planning and Conservation-Since 1978, we have conserved over 40,000 acres throughout Monterey County. In 2020, hundreds of people found peace of mind surrounded by beauty on socially distanced hikes at Big Sur Land Trust properties. In April, we conserved 83.5 magnificent acres at Patriarch Ridge in Carmel Valley. Our Carr Lake park projects native garden continues to thrive at the site in Salinas thanks to volunteer gardeners of all ages who participated in planting days while staying masked and socially distanced. Our outdoor youth programs shifted from hosting in-person camps to providing hundreds of kids experiences with nature through videos and activity kits. In addition BSLT opened trails at Patriarch Ridge and continued diligently managing invasive species throughout our conserved properties.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Community - Funds are utilized to facilitate local community projects on the central coast relating to protection and conservation of significant lands. In addition, local conservation sites are being utilized to promote healthy communities by providing meaningful outdoor experiences for local youth and other groups in order to enhance the connection of people with the land. Around 100,000 people benefited.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

Stewardship - Big Sur Land Trust (BSLT) expends funds and initiates community partnerships to be effective stewards of both the BSLT's protected acreage as well as other important public and private lands. BSLT provides a high standard of stewardship for our ecological, cultural and scenic features that define the character of our properties and contribute to our natural and cultural heritage. Stewardship includes care of the facilities and amenities that ensure a high quality visitor experience; the standard of care balances ecological health and human use of the land. Part II, Line 5: Summarized Policy	It is the policy of Big Sur Land Trust to only acquire and hold for consideration those lands or interests in land that contain resources or conservation values that the land trust determines to be of real benefit to the public.The Land Trust shall proactively manage and monitor all lands and conservation easements that it acquires for the long-term benefit of the local communities where those lands are situated, emphasizing long-term ecological health of the land and associated resources. Prior to acquisition, the land trust will assess and document the resources and conservation values of concern and will project the reasonable on-going management, monitoring and enforcement costs thereof; the trust will determine a means of endowing these stewardship costs. The land trust will undertake appropriate due diligence regarding title and liability issues prior to acquisition, including assessment for hazardous materials or conditions, visual inspection for adverse interests of claims, title insurance and surveys when appropriate.

Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Part II, Line 9: Organization Reporting of conservation easements.	The trust periodically receives or purchases conservation easements which limit the allowable uses of the related property to open space uses consistent with the trust's mission. Contributed conservation easements received are recorded as easement contributions based on the estimated value given up by the land owner by restricting the use of the property with an easement. Because of donor restrictions, contributed conservation easements and conservation easements purchased with restricted donations bear no future benefit to the trust and are therefore expensed as land and easements conveyed in the year they are acquired. In connection with the transfer or sale of land to governmental agencies, the trust may retain a conservation easement on the land. Because these easements bear no future financial benefit to the trust, they are not recorded on the trust's statement of financial position. The trust capitalizes the cost of purchased easements only when they are expected to be sold or otherwise result in some future financial benefit to the trust. There were no capitalized conservation easements as of June 30, 2020.
