The Akilah Foundation provides professional and financial support to the Akilah Institute and Davis College.Akilah is Rwandas pre-eminent institute for womens leadership and career development. Since 2010, Akilah has educated more than 2,700 young women in diploma programs linked to high growth economic sectors, including information systems, business management and entrepreneurship, and hospitality management. Akilah recently launched Davis College to extend its accessible and affordable education model to young men and women across East Africa. Part 1, Line 1 Mission (Pg2)Akilah and Daviss partners range from innovative start-ups to global corporations and provide students the opportunity to apply their leadership skills to real world problems through case studies, research, and internships.Our academic programs at Akilah and Davis combine competency-based (CBE) education with a customized, data-driven learning model. CBE is an outcomes-based, student-centered approach to learning through proven mastery of specific competencies. Students gain practical experience and the tools needed to thrive in the workforce, and in life. All students complete a community service project in addition to coursework in leadership, public speaking, growth mindset, and emotional intelligence. Part 1, Line 1 Mission Statement (Pg3)A required three-month internship in the private or public sector prepares students to launch their careers immediately upon graduation. This approach has led to demonstrative results for students and alumni, over 50 percent of whom come from rural areas; 75 percent were unemployed prior to enrolling; and 29 percent are from the lowest socioeconomic strata in Rwanda, with inconsistent access to food, shelter, and employment. Seventy-eight percent are among the first generation in their family to complete higher education. Part 1, Line 1 Mission (Pg4) Facts-Eighty-six percent of graduates secure employment within six months of graduation-Thirty-three percent of graduates have received at least one promotion in position and/or salary since graduating, and 31 percent are in a supervisory role-More than 81 percent of graduates are supporting at least one individual or family member financially Part 1, Line 1 (Pg5)This success is rooted in the institutions ability to not only prepare young women with the requisite technical skills to compete for the jobs of today and tomorrow, but to instill in them the knowledge, skills, values, and confidence to effect change in their workplaces, households, and communities. The ability to analyze, innovate, and problem solve are just a few of the reasons that Akilah graduates are pursued for highly-coveted positions in the private sector. General explanation attachment	These young women become economically independent and can invest in their families and societies. Part III, Line 1 Mission-Statement of Program Service Accomplishments (Pg1) Nearly 3,000 students graduated from Akilah during its seventh graduation ceremony in November 2019. The Akilah campus Kigali currently serves 1,200 students, and Akilah and Davis collectively have more than 2,700 students and alumni. This year, Akilah celebrates 10 years of supporting a number of critical innovations. Akilah has developed three accredited diplomas with proprietary curriculum, a technology platform to match students and graduates with career opportunities, a blended learning academic model, the launch of a professional development institute to train faculty in competency-based education and student-centered methodology, and most importantly, an empowering and nurturing campus culture. Part III, Line 1 Mission-Statement of Program Service Accomplishments (Pg2) The impact of Akilah Foundation is rooted in our commitment to support educational initiatives that are both life-changing and affordable. In November 2019, Akilah won the WISE Award from the Qatar Foundation for education innovation. Part III, Line 4a Statement of Program Service Accomplishments (Pg1) Since the opening of Akilah Institute in 2010, the Akilah Foundation has supported efforts that improve the socio-economic standing of young women in Rwanda. Through these efforts we have seen more than 2,700 students and alumni pursue careers in Hospitality and Tourism Management, Information Systems, and Business Management and Entrepreneurship. These offerings represent high-growth sectors in East Africa. Akilah's unique model leverages technology, competency-based education, and personalized learning to offer a radically different academic experience that puts graduates on the fast track to success. In addition, students participate in a three-month, full-time internship with one of Akilah and Davis partners. Part III, Line 4a Statement of Program Service Accomplishments (Pg 2) The internships provide students with an opportunity to apply their skills and transition into formal employment. Students work with an academic advisor to hone their career navigation and search and apply for positions. To ensure that students have the requisite English-language skills needed to succeed in their coursework, Akilah and Davis offer a seven-week introductory bridge course to acclimate all students to the rigors of the program. Akilah also offers both day or evening and weekend courses, for those students to maintain employment while they are studying.
