General explanation attachment	Binaytara Foundation Cancer Center in Nepal: BTFCC is perhaps the only healthcare center in Nepal to have all-electronic patient scheduling and health record system. BTFCC features state-of-the-art laboratory equipment, ultrasound, and other machinery to provide high-quality care to our patients. The establishment of BTFCC comes at a time when Nepal and the rest of South Asia is experiencing a surging burden of noncommunicable diseases such as cancer. Being a developing country, oncology in Nepal is currently in its infancy. With little access to care, mortality rates due to cancer in the area are disproportionately higher than in developed countries. The Cancer Index lists Nepal's cancer incidence as 141.6 per 100,000 population with a high mortality rate. Binaytara Foundation Cancer Center in Nepal: We know cancer incidence is likely much higher, due to the country's poor reporting tools and significant lack of infrastructure. The Binaytara Foundation Cancer Center will be a step toward changing the culture of healthcare in Nepal. Along with providing cancer care services, it will also serve as a hub for research and education. Continuing Education for Healthcare Providers: ASH (American Society of Hematology) Review is a cancer conference designed to educate doctors who treat blood cancers and other blood disorders about the most recent research and treatment available for those patients. This conference focuses on research data that was presented at the American Society of Hematology Annual Meeting which is held every December. Tumor Boards & Virtual Meetings are similar to conferences but they are designed to help cancer doctors manage complex cancer patients. A group of doctors from different specialties (such as surgeons, oncologists, pathologists, radiologists, radiation oncologists, etc.) meet to discuss complex cancer cases and make treatment recommendations as a team based on latest evidence. Continuing Education for Healthcare Providers: The Summits on National and Global Cancer Health Disparities (SCHD20): They are designed to educate healthcare providers about various factors that contribute to disparities in cancer care, and to advocate for better access to care by bringing together important stakeholders in healthcare delivery to discuss and debate issues related to access to care. These summits are accredited for continuing education credits for physicians and other healthcare providers. The International Conferences on Advances in Hematology and Oncology (ICOHO): These are annual healthcare provider and educational conferences providing continuing medical education for healthcare providers.
