Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
V 4	The endowment accounts held by the organization are intended to support the shorter and longer term needs of the European University at St. Petersburg that do not involve direct support to the University itself, which Russian law now prohibits unless the University registers as a foreign agent. These needs include individual and joint research projects with U.S. scholars, conferences and seminars, and fellowship or research support outside of Russia for individual scholars.

990 Schedule F, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Part I Line 2	The Board of Directors meets at least twice a year and hears detailed reports from the Universitys Rector and Provost concerning the use of grants allocated by the Fund of the University. In addition, the Rector of the European University communicates regularly to the Board concerning the use of the Funds grants. Six members of the Funds eight-member Board of Directors Balzer, Sobel, Rosenberg, Platt, Hanson, and Franklin also sit on the European Universitys Board of Trustees and attend its meetings in June and December. Students who are U.S. Citizens or permanent residents may apply for financial aid contingent upon their being accepted for full-time study in one of the graduate programs offered by the European University. Applications should include a cover letter explaining the program in which an applicant will enroll and providing background on the reasons for choosing the program, a copy of the applicants application to the European University, and one letter of recommendation. Applications are reviewed by the Fellowship Committee. Funds are awarded on the basis of academic performance and the applicants explanation of why study in Russia is integral to the academic project. Funds for fellowship recipients are deposited in their designated bank account upon certification by the University that the student has matriculated in St. Petersburg in cases where fellowship recipients are not able to cover their travel costs, arrangements may be made for an advance payment to cover travel expenses. Funds are disbursed each semester during the fellowship period provided the student remains in good standing at the University. Awards are made for study in a specific program for a specific period of time. Changes in an awardees program must be approved by the Fellowship Committee. Students who must interrupt or terminate their program of study due to illness, family considerations, academic difficulties, or other reasons will be expected to return the living expenses on a prorated basis. It is not possible to defer a fellowship award. Students who do not accept an award for the year in which it is granted must reapply for support in subsequent years. An award in one year is not a guarantee of future funding.
