Form 990 (2020)

Form 990, Part III, Line 4a:

Amped Academy is an after school program that is connected to Humanities Amped. This program seeks to build facilitation and leadership skills among high school students while providing them with substantive academic and college/career readiness supports. The program's core activities include tutoring/academic support, youth leadership and project-based enrichment clubs, and college/career readiness workshops. Student facilitation and leadership are integral to this program. In the fall of 2020, 33 East Baton Rouge Parish School students were involved in Amped Academy, renamed Amped Studio. These 33 students elected to participate in the following program options: ? Tutoring support in academic subjects on Tuesdays ? Dreamkeepers a group that meets on Wednesdays for youth who want support planning for the life they desire after high school ? WordCrew a poetry workshop that meets on Wednesday evenings for creative writing and self-expression ? Soul Cypher- healing and peer mentorship with a hip hop lens ? Educators Rising/Peer Support Training- courses for youth to gain badges as peer facilitators and peer counseling supports and become eligible for jobs as Amped Youth Leaders As a result of Amped Academy/Amped Studio, 89% of students involved in the program reported an increase in their ability to recognize and identify culturally responsive, trauma-informed classroom practices. Additionally, 89% of students involved reported having a significant, positive experience with culturally responsive, trauma-informed classroom practices in the Amped Studio after school program. Throughout the Spring and Fall semesters, 50+ young people and community members attended and over 20 young people from 8 schools shared their work in the virtual open mic. With 2 stand alone open mics and 1 collaborative open mic, dozens of young writers shared their original writing exploring topics like mental health, family, racial injustices, politics, gender-based injustices, LGBTQIA+ identity, relationships, school, hobbies, sci-fi, and so much more.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4b:

Approximately 450 students were part of Amplified Classrooms in the 2020-21 school year, including 20 distinct class sections. All Amped-supported classes received: ? Coaching, guided planning, and modeling from a coach who works closely with instructional teams. Coaches specialize in trauma-informed, culturally sustaining, project-based learning. Activities in Amplified Classrooms are aligned with the Amped 7 Core Assets Framework. ? Curricular resources - See <http://www.humanitiesamped.com> ? Educator training that is aligned with the framework through the Amped Learning Community, teachers and administrators experience guided reflection, study, practice, and planning. Some classes also participated in/recieved: ? Amped Community Educators co-teach and support classes (many are PhD candidate in related fields) ? Paid internships for Amped Youth Leaders to attend professional development with educators, contribute to planning, and increase life and career skills ? Collective Care referrals to fill in the gaps in school-based mental health services and get young people the services they need ? Trained community volunteers to assist with project-based classroom learning ? Participation in community-wide forums that bring students and community together to amplify student voice and civic engagement As part of this program, 16 EBRPSS high school students participated as Youth Apprentice Leaders and received stipends in addition to professional development. Over 90% of students involved in Amped programs reported that students involved in an Amped program supported one another. Additionally, over 85% of students involved in Amped programs reported that they were able to gain a better understanding of theirs or others diverse identities, connect classroom activities to their real-life concerns and interests, and develop their academic and interpersonal skills through Amped programming. 83% of students involved in the Amped Learning Community reported an increase in their ability to recognize and identify culturally responsive, trauma-informed classroom practices in their Amped classroom environment and over 50% of students involved in the Amped Learning Community reported having significant, positive experiences with culturally responsive, trauma-informed classroom practices in their Amped Classroom Environment. 89% of educators involved in the Amped Learning Community reported an increase in their ability to implement culturally responsive, trauma-informed classroom practices and their ability to foster culturally responsive, trauma-informed learning environments. Teachers reported feeling confident in their ability to develop the core asset of safety and trust in their classroom based on the training they received through Humanities Amped programming. This is significant given the teachers work in both virtual and in-person classrooms over the course of the year.

Form 990, Part III, Line 4c:

The inaugural Humanities Amped Learning Community Summer Institute, attended by 45 participants representing 16 EBRPSS educators from five schools, 9 Amped Community Educators, and 20 high school and middle school youth apprentice leaders, ran online from June 9-25th. Despite the inherent challenges of distance learning, our learning network members engaged in community building, workshops, and reading and reflection focusing on culturally sustaining pedagogies, restorative justice practices, mind-body wellness, and arts integration. Sessions leaders included Eric Butler from Talking Piece, Toni Bankston from the Baton Rouge Children's Advocacy Center, Lorena Germán from The Multicultural Classroom, and Forward Arts Teaching Artists Desiree Dallagiacomo and Donney Rose, among others. Throughout the institute, planning teams of educators and youth have sought to address the following driving questions: What are the conditions of student and educator well-being, connectedness, and engagement as civic-minded problem-solvers? How do we center these priorities in online/hybrid learning? The teams worked collaboratively to develop concrete action plans for the coming school year. We celebrated the close of this institute with an online forum attended by 72 people and highlighting the work of four of the nine teams. We were joined by special guest Dr. David Stovall, who provided framing for this work as well as a response to each presentation. A video of the forum is posted on our website (www.humanitiesamped.com) as well as all nine of the proposed plans for the 2020-21 school year made by teams, which are now posted on the Summer Institute webpage. 990 Schedule O, Supplemental Information

Return Reference	Explanation
Form 990, Part VI, Line 15a: Compensation Review & Approval Process - CEO, Top Management	To determine the Executive Director's salary and benefits, the Humanities Amped Board of Directors appoints an independent body, that is, a committee that does not include the Executive Director, to complete a three-step determination process. First, the committee engages in a comparability review to establish what reasonable and not excessive compensation is according to organizations of a similar size, scope, and mission. Second, the committee documents their process to obtain compensation information and presents both the process and their recommendation to the full Board of Directors. Humanities Amped's Conflict of Interest policy requires any Board member with a conflict of interest to report this conflict and remove themselves from the discussion of the Executive Director's salary and benefits. Third, the Board of Directors votes to approve a salary and benefits package for the Executive Director and the process for this vote (and any dialogue) is recorded in the minutes.
